DR. HULL ARRESTED AS VAUGHN SLAYER; GRAND JURY MEETS

Coroner's Jury Also Takes Up Poison Mystery After Monroe Physician Is Apprehended.

OFFICIALS SERVE WARRANT AFTER ALL-NIGHT VIGIL

Prisoner Admits He May Have Been Indiscreet, but Declares That He Is Not a Murderer—Prisoner Starts for Kirksville.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MONROE CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.—Dr. James R. Hull, owner of the Monroe Sanitarium, who was arrested this morning on a warrant from Adair County charging him with the murder of Prof. John T. Vaughn, was taken from here at 1 o'clock this afternoon, in custody of Deputy Sheriff Barnes. He will reach Kirksville at 8 o'clock this evening, and immediate application for bail will be made.

The arrest of Dr. Hull, the convening of the special grand jury at Kirksville and the arrangements for the resumption of the Coroner's inquest here at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon constituted the leading developments today in the investigation of the mysterious death of the educator. A second arrest is expected, but it is asserted that it will not be made until after the grand jury has acted.

Dr. Hull's arrest was made following the appearance of Deputy Barnes in Monroe City. Attorney McClintic, who was with him, considered the feasibility of asking a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his being taken to Kirksville, but this was abandoned, as there was no Circuit Judge here who could act.

After the warrant had been read to him and Dr. Hull had accompanied the Sheriff downtown, he returned to his sanitarium and spent the morning there.

Shortly after noon Mrs. Hull, the wife of the physician, left the sanitarium and started toward the depot. She was heavily veiled and it was impossible to distinguish her features. A few minutes later Mrs. Caroline Hull, mother of the accused physician, left the building with City Marshal Stephens, who notified Dr. Hull in advance that he was to be arrested.

Dr. Hull was the last to appear and he was alone when he came down the steps. It had been arranged with Deputy Barnes to remain at the hotel, it being understood that the prisoner would appear in ample time for the train.

DR. HULL SAYS "I MAY HAVE BEEN INDISCREET, BUT I'M NO MURDERER"

MONROE CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.

I am an innocent man; I never killed anybody. This prosecution is an outrage. Why am I singled out for arrest before anybody else? It is unfair and unjust that I should be arrested and be the first to be blamed for a crime of which I know nothing.

I MAY have been indiscreet at times, but there is no evidence of murder against me. It is not a crime to be indiscreet and that is the only thing for which I justly can be blamed.

Someone will suffer for the things which I now am suffering. This injustice cannot be done without retribution.

Prisoner Goes With Bondsmen and Meets His Family at the Depot

Hull was joined on the way to the depot by William Sullivan, a business man of this city, who expects to become one of the bondsmen. Hull was attired nattily in a light suit and he followed his unfailing custom of wearing a red necktie.

At the depot Mrs. Hull and the doctor's mother were in waiting and they chatted pleasantly until Deputy Barnes appeared, only a few minutes before the train came.

When the train came the entire party boarded it and J. E. Stiker, a relative of Hull by marriage, also went with him. It is said that he will be the second bondsman, if the court at Kirksville will consent to the fixing of bail.

At the depot Hull refused to discuss the case except to reiterate statements made just after his arrest that he was innocent of any crime. He declared that he expected to get bail at once and felt certain that he would be admitted to bail.

Just before his departure Dr. Hull received a telegram from J. E. Reed of the firm of Kansas City attorneys he has hired and was informed that the lawyer would meet him at Macon, accompany him to Kirksville and take charge of his case there.

The taking of Dr. Hull to Kirksville at 1:50 o'clock, as originally had been planned, was prevented through a misunderstanding that a writ of habeas corpus was to be asked. No definite announcement that a writ would not be asked for was made until after the train was gone.

After Hull's lawyer had agreed that [illegible] would not try to prevent the removal of his client to Kirksville, Deputy Barnes gave up his plan to take the prisoner in a buggy half a mile across the county line and the two, accompanied by Sheriff Nolen of Monroe County went back to Hull's Sanitarium, where he had been arrested earlier.

Several newspaper correspondents tried to get into the sanitarium, but they were driven from the door by Mrs. Hull [illegible] mother of the accused physician. Mrs. Hull made a hysterical defense of her husband during the repulse, declaring that he was innocent of the charges against him.

While these preparations were going on here it was stated that the grand jury assembled in Kirksville and prepared to take up the case. The gathering was at 10 o'clock when the 12 men appeared before Judge Shelton, who had issued the order for their assemblage, at the behest of Prosecutor Rieger of Adair County.

Judge Shelton delivered only a brief charge to the men, declaring that in the opinion of the prosecutor an emergency which called for the most careful investigation had arisen. He said that certain examinations which had been made by chemists had been completed, and the jury would be apprised of the result of the findings.

John Kimberly was made foreman of the jury and it retired at once and began its deliberations and investigation.

Meanwhile preparations were made for the inquest which is to be held here this afternoon.

It is expected that the Coroner will assemble the jury at 4:30 o'clock and begin the taking of testimony at once. The sworn statement that strychnine was found in Vaughn's body will be introduced. All of the witnesses who testified at the former hearing will be present.

The two officials spent the remainder of the night at the Maddox Hotel. Early this morning City Marshal J. W. Stephens went to Hull's sanitarium and apprised the physician that he was to be arrested this morning. He sent at once for his attorney.

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, Sheriff Nolen went to the sanitarium, where Hull and his lawyer were waiting in the office. It had been arranged that Deputy Barnes was to remain behind, and that the prisoner would be turned over to him at the hotel.

"I have an unpleasant duty to perform," Sheriff Nolen began when he entered the sanitarium office.

"Yes, yes, I know about it," exclaimed Dr. Hull.

The Sheriff then produced the warrant.

ROCK ISLAND TO SPEND $3,000,000 FOR A TERMINAL

Will Improve 38 Acres of Ground for Yards in North St. Louis.

NEW THROUGH LINES

Trains to Run Direct to Colorado, California and Texas.

SELL CATLIN TRACT

$4,000,000 to Be Expended in Improving Service to Kansas City.

CATLIN TRACT OWNERS WILL BUY SITE ROAD WILL VACATE

OWNERS of the Catlin tract on the north side of Forest Park are raising $328,000 as a first payment on the property now used by the Rock Island railroad for freight yards. The property extends from Union avenue to De Baliviere avenue, and fronts 225 feet on Union avenue and 134 feet on De Baliviere. The Rock Island railroad paid $430,000 for the property when it entered St. Louis about eight years ago.

W. K. Bixby, Daniel Catlin, Festus J. Wade and others are interested in the movement to buy the property and remove the railroad tracks. The Rock Island will have little use for the property when it completes its North St. Louis independent terminal system.

Its trains are taken into Union Station and the Terminal freight yards over the Wabash tracks. The property owners interested propose to ask the Municipal Assembly to grant the Wabash railroad the right to extend its tracks through Forest Park from Union avenue to De Baliviere avenue to rid the district north of the park of railroad tracks. This scheme was turned down by the Board of Public Improvements last summer. If the plan fails again the property owners will try to induce the Wabash to come into the city south of Forest Park. President Delano of the Wabash has refused to seriously consider any plan for the abandonment of the Forest Park tracks.

The Rock Island Railroad Co. has completed plans for a mammoth independent terminal system in North St. Louis, covering 38 acres. Since its divorce recently from the Frisco the Rock Island has been preparing to make St. Louis one of its great freight and passenger traffic centers and will spend three millions of dollars in the improvement of its facilities.

An appropriation of approximately $4,000,000 has been made for the reconstruction and shortening of the St. Louis and Kansas City line of the system. The line between St. Louis and Kansas City is to be reduced 10 miles, giving the Rock Island the short line between those cities. Through trains from St. Louis to Colorado, Texas and California, connecting with the Chicago trains at Kansas City, will be put in service.

All the freight traffic will be diverted from the main line at its intersection with the Terminal outer belt at Olivette in St. Louis County and switched into the yards in North St. Louis.

The independent terminal system will be built between Adelaide and Luther avenues, a distance of 17 blocks, and between the Wabash and Merchants' Terminal tracks. The roundhouses will be at Bulwer and Adelaide avenues.

To Facilitate Freight Handling.

The North St. Louis yards will give the Rock Island access to its Biddle street freight houses over its own tracks. E. J. O'Neill, general agent of the Rock Island in St. Louis, says the new terminal system will enable the Rock Island to make up and load and unload its freight trains in one-tenth of the time now required by the use of the Terminal Association facilities.

The freight yards between Union and De Baliviere avenues are to be sold.

"The Rock Island will have the largest independent terminal system in St. Louis," said O'Neill to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "The Rock Island recognizes great traffic possibilities in St. Louis and is getting ready to take advantage of them by providing thoroughly modern facilities for handling freight.

"The 38 acres of land was bought eight years ago and all streets have been va-

MARONEY DELIVERS PROOF OF FRAUDS; GRAND JURY BUSY

The Police Relief Association embezzlements, after many weeks of sensational revelations and informal investigation, are at last, Thursday, in the hands of the grand jury.

Andrew C. Maroney at 9:20 a. m. submitted to Circuit Attorney Jones a bulky mass of documents, covering his probings for more than two weeks into the books of the association. The expert accountants, W. T. Westermann, H. G. Ambrose and W. H. Eathey, who examined the books, were subpenaed for Thursday afternoon.

Ambrose, who did most of the work on the association books, appeared at the Four Courts at 2:15 p. m. and went into the grand jury room.

All the district collectors for the last three years were also summoned. Maroney, not being a sworn officer of the State, will not appear before the grand jury save as a witness. But he will be constantly at hand so that the Circuit Attorney may avail himself of Maroney's special knowledge of the association's affairs.

Experts to Testify.

The testimony of the accountants was expected to occupy all the afternoon and part of Friday morning. Then the collectors will be examined, as it is by their testimony and evidence in their possession that Jones relies largely to prove embezzlement.

"We must prove," said Jones, "that the guilty men actually received the money which has disappeared. To establish this fact we rely on receipts signed by the secretary of the association and delivered to the collectors."

Maroney admitted that a considerable portion of the evidence he has collected is circumstantial. But his record as an attorney shows that he can effect more with circumstantial than many lawyers can with direct evidence.

After many delays, it is now expected that developments will come rapidly, and that the identity of the plunderers of the police pension fund will be made public within a few days, by means of indictments for embezzlement. The name of John M. Healy, deposed secretary of the association, has been connected with the shortage since its discovery, and he is now at large on a $10,000 bond, returnable March 10. Implicated with him, it is reported, are seven other members or former members of the police force, including two ranking higher than patrolmen.

Maroney got an early start Thursday, the day to which all his labors for more than two weeks have looked. Chief of Detectives Smith called for him with an automobile at 8 a. m., and they drove to the Magnolia Avenue Police Station. There a great bundle of books and records was placed in the machine and the trip was continued to the Four Courts. Maroney entered into a conference with Jones and Assistant Circuit

MOUNTED TROOPS FIRE ON RIOTERS IN PHILADELPHIA

State Police Drive Mob Into Building and Reply to Volley of Missiles With Fusillade of Revolver Bullets.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—A clash has come between the mounted State police and the crowds that have been stoning street cars during the strike. The clash occurred in Kensington, where trouble had been feared.

Fifteen of the mounted men, armed with 44-caliber revolvers and heavy riot sticks, had been stationed at the danger point but a few minutes before partially through curiosity a big crowd gathered to see Capt. Groome's men. A trolley car passed and the crew was jeered by the rapidly increasing gathering.

Swinging their riot clubs, the 15 troopers charged the crowd without a moment's hesitation. Quailing before the little band of riders, the crowd turned and scattered. A few narrowly escaped being ridden down by the horsemen.

Some twenty men dashed through the door of the nearest building. Getting pieces of iron and stone, they turned and hurled them through the doorway at the troopers, slamming the door and then escaping through a rear exit.

As the door closed following the rain of stones and broken iron about them, several of the troopers pulled their revolvers and fired. The sound of the heavy shooting and the thud of the bullets as they sank deep into the thick wooden door, threw terror into those who had not already fled, and they turned and ran in all directions at full speed.

The troopers did not pursue in an effort to make an arrest. Quitely falling into line they returned to their former positions. Three minutes later absolute quiet and order prevailed.

Mounted and amply equipped for any kind of service, the four companies of the Pennsylvania State Police, numbering 200 men, arrived today ready to assist the local authorities in maintaining order while the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. attempts to operate its cars.

Stoned by a crowd of strike sympathizers, a detachment of the State police fired a volley through the door of the building into which the assailants had fled. The fight between the State troopers and the mob occurred at 12:20 p. m. at the intersection of Fourth street, Germantown avenue and Oxford street.

The troopers are all picked men, veterans of the regular army, who have seen riot duty in all parts of the State. Their presence is expected to have a salutary effect upon the lawless element that has been wrecking street cars.

Arriving in the railroad yards in the northern section of the city, each company quickly detrained their horses while a curious crowd looked on. The command to mount was given and they clattered along the streets to the Second Regiment Armory, at Broad street and Susquehanna avenue, where headquarters have been established.

Near Scene of Riots.

The headquarters of the troopers is within easy riding distance of the Kensington Mill district, which is giving the police authorities more concern than any other section of the city.

The first attempt to operate cars at night since last Saturday will probably be made by the company this evening. If there is as much improvement in conditions today as there was yesterday the night service will be resumed. This is regarded as the final test both of the peaceableness of the city and of the company's ability to man its cars.

The casualties as the result of the lawlessness stands at three dead, several persons in a serious condition in hospitals and more than a thousand suffering from lacerations inflicted by bullets, police clubs and missiles.

Heavy Sentences on Rioters.

The heavy sentences inflicted upon some of the rioters in the courts yesterday are expected to have a good effect in the work of maintaining order. One man was given six years and a number of others were sentenced to terms of two years each.

The strike has had a serious effect on business generally. Merchants in the business sections of the city are complaining bitterly over the disturbed conditions. One of the big department stores has laid off more than 200 employes because of the curtailment of business and other big establishments have reduced their working forces.

The transit company appeared to have more cars in operation during the morning than at any time since the strike started. The weather was clear and

"BAD JACK" BARRY SHOT BY CLERK IN A COURTROOM ROW

POLITICAL WRANGLE LED TO HAND TO HAND FIGHT

Diederichsen Surrenders to Police After Shooting and Declares He Fired to Prevent Barry Stabbing Him — Wounded Man Recently Became Democrat.

After a political quarrel in which such epithets as "black-legged Republican" were bandied about, John ("Bad Jack") Barry, a police character, and a member of the Cross Keys Club gang, was shot twice in the breast at 1:50 p. m. Thursday by Henry L. Diederichsen, clerk in Justice George Riechmann's Court. The court room was the scene of the shooting, but the hearings had closed, and the clerk was alone.

Diederichsen left the critically wounded man in the care of his brother-in-law, Dan Schriver, who happened in, and walked six blocks to the North Market Street Police Station, where he surrendered himself.

Barry was rushed to the City Hospital in an ambulance.

Barry was formerly a Republican but recently turned Democrat. Diederichsen is a Republican.

Diederichsen says he was working at his desk when Barry entered. The men are near neighbors on University street, and have been political rivals since Barry's conversion to the Democratic party. Barry accosted him, he says, with a vile epithet and called him a "black-legged Republican."

Barry Drew a Knife.

The clerk replied in kind, he says, and Barry drew a knife and attempted to stab him. Then Diederichsen snatched a revolver from his pocket and fired twice.

Barry lives at 2712 University street, and Diederichsen at 2216 University street. The latter is married and is 42 years old.

The courtroom is on the second floor of a building at Fourteenth and Benton streets. At the sound of the shots the offices in the building were emptied by frightened men. But the sounds were not heard on the street, and it was not until the ambulance clanged up to the door that the tragedy became known outside the building.

At the Police Station, Diedericksen, who had been drinking, gave a slightly different version of the story. He said that the shooting occurred in the constable's office, which is part of the courtroom.

"I was working at my desk," said the clerk, "when Barry entered. He drew a knife and said:

"'I'll kill you—you!'

"My brother-in-law, Dan Schriver, is a constable in the same court, and I ran to his desk and got his revolver from the drawer. I said:

"'Let me alone. You'd better not come closer, or I'll kill you.'

"Barry replied, 'To hell with you,' and rushed me with the knife.

"I shot him through the heart twice, and hope I killed him.

"The whole trouble was politics. Barry tried to be a politician, and besides belonging to the Cross Keys gang, was a member of Egan's Rats. He had often threatened to get me."

Barry Known as a Fighter.

Barry was known as a member of the Cross Keys Club at Montgomery street and St. Louis avenue. He was arrested June 12, 1909, after he had shot at Pat Loughlin with whom he had fought the preceding Christmas. He followed Loughlin down the street, firing at him as he ran. When arrested he fought fiercely with two policemen at the patrol box while waiting for a patrol wagon. Most of his clothing was torn off before he surrendered.

Cy Barry, a brother to John Barry, was killed about three years ago in North St. Louis by a son of Constable Quinn in a gang fight.

Snowflake Three Inches Across.

DRUNKEN MAN HAS RIGHT TO SMASH WINDOWS OF SALOON WHERE HE GOT HIS DRINKS

Judge Tracy Refuses to Punish Customer Who Threw Missiles After Buying Beer.

A drunken man can smash all the windows he wants to and not be punished for it, if the windows are those of the saloon where he got his drinks.

This was virtually a ruling by Judge Tracy in the Clark Avenue Police Court Thursday, when he freed John Cook, accused of malicious destruction of property by John Thoman, saloon proprietor, at 1113 Chouteau avenue.

Thoman related that Cook, while intoxicated, had projected missiles through sundry windows of the Thoman buffet.

"Did he get his drinks at your place?" the Judge asked.

"He got one glass of beer over my bar," said Thoman. On further questioning he raised the number to two, and possibly three. Judge Tracy then told Cook to go home.

DR. HYDE'S HEARING IN SWOPE CASE GOES OVER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 24.—In accordance with an agreement of the interested attorneys, the preliminary hearing of Dr. B. C. Hyde, charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, was continued until March 4, when called before a justice of the peace at Independence, Mo., today. Dr. Hyde's bond of $50,000 was renewed.

Virgil Conklin, County Prosecutor, has not received a reply to his request that Dr. Hyde appear before the grand jury. The Prosecutor stated that he would not release the grand jury witnesses to give depositions in Dr. Hyde's damage suit until he had some assurance that the physician will testify before the grand jury or give his depositions before a notary.

WHYTE ADMITS HE DIDN'T READ GRADE REPORT HE SIGNED

Former B. P. I. Member Testifies He Now Favors Lowering Streets.

ROADS OPPOSING CITY

Defendant Lines Found Aiding Plaintiffs When Suit Is Resumed.

Harbor Commissioner Joseph P. Whyte, after testifying Thursday, in an injunction suit against the city, that depressed streets would solve the Tower Grove grade crossing problem better than depressed tracks, was asked why he signed a report of the Board of Public Improvements favoring track depression.

"I signed it because I had not read it," said Whyte. "If I had read it, I probably would not have signed it. Press of other business kept me from giving the matter proper attention."

"Have you ever since informed members of the Municipal Assembly that you disapproved of the report which you signed?" Whyte was asked. He replied in the negative.

Denies He Is Personally Interested.

"Were you on the committee of the board which reported June 22, 1906, in favor of track depression?" asked Associate City Counselor Charles, who was conducting the city's defense in the injunction case in Judge Withrow's court. Whyte replied that he was one of the committee.

"I hesitate to ask you these questions, Mr. Whyte," said Charles, "but has your real estate firm any business relations with real estate owners in the Tower Grove district?

"We have no real estate business near the railroads," Whyte replied.

"Does your firm handle railroad business?" was the next question.

"We handle anything that comes to us."

This line of questioning was not pursued further. The suit, whose object is to prevent the enforcement of the ordinances requiring the Missouri Pacific and the Frisco to depress their tracks, was partially heard last December and was resumed Wednesday.

The suit was brought by the American Tobacco Co. and the American Car Co., which allege that ordinances by which the railroads are required to depress tracks at the crossings mentioned would result in damage to plaintiffs' property. The suit is directed against the city and the three railroads, including the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain and Frisco, affected by the ordinances.

City's Objections Overruled.

Most of the hearing Wednesday was consumed in reading documentary evidence. The evidence consisted of the reading of other grade-crossing ordinances which had been prepared by the Board of Public Improvements. The city's lawyers objected to the reading of such documents, holding the matter had no bearing on the case at issue, but the Court overruled the objection.

Representatives of various civic organizations interested in the abolition of grade crossings are present in court. Frank H. Gerhart, who prepared the Tower Grove bill, is in attendance, having been subpenaed by the city.

MOUNTED TROOPS FIRE ON STRIKERS IN PHILADELPHIA

told. The cars also seemed to be carrying more passengers.

Mayor Makes an Arrest.

At 9 o'clock the transit company asserted it had 650 cars in operation, or 100 more than at the same hour yesterday.

The first disturbance of the day occurred in West Philadelphia, where men, women and children joined in stoning a car. No one was hurt. One man was arrested.

Mayor Reyburn made his first arrest while inspecting the streets after leaving the City Hall early this morning. Two men placing sewer pipe on the car tracks were discovered by the Mayor and, aided by Detective McFadden, were held until a patrol wagon could be summoned.

Ministers Want to Settle Strike.

The first open move to bring about a settlement of the strike was made today, when a committee composed of clergymen of many denominations offered two plans to the company and the strikers.

The first plan calls for a board of arbitration to be composed of two judges, two clergymen, two business men and a seventh member to be chosen by the other six. It is proposed that each side select three of the arbitrators.

If this plan does not meet with approval the clergymen suggest that a board of arbitration be agreed upon, to be composed of the State Railroad Commission and four other persons, two to be chosen by each side.

Among the clergymen in the movement are Bishop Wilson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rabbi Krauskopf and Archbishop Ryan. Today's action is the result of a meeting of the churchmen yesterday.

A man was arrested in the northern part of the city today on a charge of attempting to dynamite cars. It is said he implicated several other men.

The police today requested all dealers to refrain from selling firearms until the strike is over.

BUSCH RAILROAD ASKS INJUNCTION AGAINST COMBINE

MANY SHIPPERS JOIN

Proposed Action of Terminal Association Declared to Be Injustice.

COMMERCE COMMISSION WILL HEAR PROTEST NEXT MONTH

THE Interstate Commerce Commission will hold a meeting in St. Louis March 7 to 19, according to a telegram received Thursday by United States Marshal Morsey, requesting him to engage quarters for the commission.

It is probable the commission will then hear the protest of the Manufacturers' Railway against the cancellation of its joint rates with the proprietary railroads of the Terminal Association.

The protest against the discontinuance of the rates was filed with the commission some time ago.

The Manufacturers' Railway Co. filed an injunction suit Thursday in the United States Court against the Terminal Association, its 14 proprietary lines and three other railroads to restrain them from discontinuing the joint tariff rates with the Busch road.

Judge Adams issued an order against the defendant corporations citing them to appear Feb. 28 and show cause why the injunction should not be issued.

The Independent Breweries Co., the St. Louis Basket and Box Co., the Sidel-Ganahl Lumber Co., the St. Louis Cooperage Co. and the Western Foundry and Sash-Weight Co. joined the Manufacturers' Railway as plaintiffs.

The petition alleges that the railroads entered into an agreement with the Manufacturers' Railway Co. several years ago to issue joint tariff rates and that these rates have continued in force to the present time. It is alleged the railroads held a meeting in December and agreed that all joint tariff rates with the Manufacturers' Railway Co. be canceled March 1.

It is declared that this will be a great injustice not only to the Manufacturers' Railway, but also to the industries on its lines dependent upon it for service. The corporations which joined the railways as plaintiffs all have big plants on its lines. Many other South St. Louis industries are served by the Busch road.

If the joint rates are discontinued it is alleged the industries will have to pay an additional charge to the Manufacturers' Railway for service.

The application for the injunction is filed, the petition states, pending a decision from the Interstate Commerce Commission on the authority of the Terminal Association and its proprietary lines to cancel the joint tariffs. The only reason given for canceling the joint rates, according to the complainants, is the statement that the Manufacturers' Railway is not a common carrier.

Doing Interstate Commerce.

The petition challenges this statement, and asserts that the Manufacturers' Railway Co. is engaged in interstate commerce, having lines on both the east and west sides of the Mississippi River and an arrangement with the St. Louis Transfer Co. for the transfer of freight across the river via the Wiggins Ferry.

The Manufacturers' Railway states that it has protested against the cancellation of the rates, but without avail. It alleges that the meeting of the railroads to effect an agreement to discontinue the rates was unlawful and in restraint of trade.

The Manufacturers' Railway is largely owned by the Busch interests. Notices mailed from the Union Station were sent to the road a month ago notifying it that the joint rates were to be discontinued.

FUND SHORTAGE DATA TAKEN TO JONES FOR GRAND JURY INQUIRY

The known shortage, as shown by the discrepancies between moneys delivered to Healy and the sums placed in the banks to the association's credit, amounts to $13,213.01. The real total of the deficit, which will probably never be known, is said to be much larger, and consists, not only of thefts from the district collections of $1 a month from every policeman, but of peculations from the receipts of police benefits and from the profits of program advertising.

When Maroney and Smith reached the Four Courts they were met by Inspector McDonnell and Detectives Roach, Garvey, Mason and David O'Brien. McDonnell seized a large suit case full of documents and each of the detectives filled both arms with books and bundles of papers. These were all carried upstairs into the office of Jones.

Maroney became panic-stricken at a brigade of photographers who waylaid him and fled up the stairs at the Eleventh street entrance to the building.

"I shall be in conference all morning," he said later, "with Jones and Rosskopf, going over the evidence and outlining a campaign to be conducted before the grand jury. The documents will be submitted to the during the afternoon."

Rock Island Will Own Independent Terminal System

cated. The work of constructing the new terminal system will begin at once, all plans having been drawn and approved.

"It takes now sometimes three days to get a freight train through the Mill Creek Valley yards of the Terminal Association. Under the most favorable conditions it takes two hours to switch a train from our tracks in North St. Louis to the Terminal, and three and one-half hours more to deliver it to our yards at Forsythe Junction. When our new terminals are completed we will be able to have a train half way across the State within that time.

"The Rock Island is also going to increase its livestock business. We will have direct connections with the Merchants' Bridge in North St. Louis and will be able to send a train of livestock direct to the National Stockyards in East St. Louis without any delays on this side of the river.

Reconstruction Work Planned.

"Our terminal system will also enable us to load trains at the stockyards from one-half to an hour later than any other line. The Gould lines have always had an advantage over other West Side lines in handling livestock, but our new yards will give the Rock Island a decided advantage over the roads of that system.

"The company has made an appropriation of $12,500 to $15,000 a mile for the reconstruction of its St. Louis-Kansas City branch. We are now operating six trains a day between St. Louis and Kansas City and when the reconstruction work is completed the number of trains will be doubled. We are also running through sleepers out of St. Louis for Colorado, Texas and California, but the service will be greatly improved when the line is rebuilt and shortened.

"We have just put on a new freight train, leaving St. Louis at 3:30 p. m. each day, making deliveries in Kansas City at 7 a. m. the following day. The train delivers freight to all western and southwestern points on the system. We are also going to put a new freight train out of here at 8:30 p. m. each day. These will all be fast freight trains and will afford St. Louis shippers prompt service in the delivery of their freight to western and southwestern points. All delays incident to handling freight through the Terminal system will be avoided.

"We are also going to build new delivery tracks at Brooklyn street. This work will all be pushed rapidly.

"The new terminal system will be in the heart of the manufacturing district of St. Louis, and our Biddle street freight houses are convenient to the wholesale shipping center of the city. The construction of the system is in no way dependent on the sale of the Union avenue yards."

The local offices of the Rock Island road will be in the Missouri Trust Building at Seventh and Olive streets. O'Neill, who was selected as general agent for the company in St. Louis, was for many years connected with the Frisco-Rock Island system.

Was Forced Into Association.

The Terminal Association made a desperate fight to keep the Rock Island Railroad out of St. Louis. When the company bought the St. Louis & Colorado line eight years ago, with the intention of making St. Louis one of its central traffic points, it found all the eastern entrances to the city blocked by the Terminal Association, with the exception of the Wiggins Ferry Co.

Determined to enter St. Louis, the Rock Island made an arrangement with the Mercantile Trust Co. to buy a controlling interest in the Wiggins Ferry Co. Before a majority of the stock was acquired the Terminal learned what was being done and employed Breckinridge Jones and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. to offer almost fabulous prices for Wiggins stock to prevent the Rock Island from gaining access to St. Louis. The Terminal bid the $100 Wiggins shares up to $1000 and higher.

The plans of the Rock Island for an independent entrance to St. Louis were defeated and it was forced to become a member of the Terminal Association to get in. The Terminal then got control of the Wiggins company and has held the property ever since.

The Rock Island interests then bought the Frisco and retained control of it until the recent separation to escape prosecutions for violation of the anti-trust laws. The Rock Island and Frisco lines are parallel and competing in parts of Oklahoma and Texas, and common ownership is forbidden by law.

rant and read it to Dr. Hull. Not more than a minute was required to dispose of the document.

The lawyer then explained, while Hull was getting his hat and coat that time was desired in which to make the application for a writ of habeas corpus.

The three left the sanitarium together, but the lawyer hastened to the office of the Justice to prepare the papers. Deputy Barnes joined the party in a few minutes and waited.

It was reported from Kirksville this morning that members of the law firm of Higbee & Mills, who have acted as advisers of Mrs. Vaughn and the Procter family met the 8:30 train, expecting Dr. Hull and Deputy Barnes to arrive at that time. It is said that they were prepared to demand a preliminary hearing for the physician at once.

The purpose of such a move, it was said, was to force the State to produce any evidence which it may have tending to support the charges made in the Prosecutor's application for a warrant.

Prosecutor Rieger also was at the train and was prepared to combat any legal move which would force his hand at this time. The Prosecutor, when he was informed that Dr. Hull would not arrive in Kirksville until late in the afternoon, if at all, busied himself at once with the preparations for the convening of the grand jury.

Great secrecy was used in making arrangements for the meeting of the inquisitors. Their names were concealed and the selection of a foreman will not be announced until later in the day.

It is declared that the Adair County Judge who will instruct the grand jurors will tell them that this is an emergency case, and that they must be guided at all times by the evidence provided by Prosecutor Rieger.

He has his evidence all in hand for quick presentation and the witnesses who will be asked to testify are waiting in the room adjoining that set apart for the hearing.

Although he had made what was considered a positive statement that a writ of habeas corpus would be asked, the lawyer of Hull apparently changed his mind after the train for Kirksville had gone. He then announced that no writ would be asked for. Arrangements then were made to take a train either at 11 o'clock this morning or 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. Hull is 50 years old, and has two married children. He lives with his wife at the sanitarium. His hair and mustache are gray, his eyes light blue, and his face deeply lined. He is tall, and slightly stooped. In conversation his manner is nervous, but he is slow of speech.

Since coming here from Macomb, Ill., three years ago, Dr. Hull has achieved a local reputation as a skillful surgeon and competent physician.

Dr. Hull has employed Reed, Atwood, Mastin & Yates of Kansas City to take care of his interests. John H. Atwood was at Monroe City in conference with the other lawyers Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Hull's connection with the case has caused intense excitement at Monroe City, and also Paris.

As to the evidence on which the prosecution acted in causing Dr. Hull's arrest, this much has come to light: That Dr. Hull is said to have met another suspect in the case, both before and after Prof. Vaughn's death, in Quincy, Ill., and that these two are said to have exchanged letters before and after the death, in which Prof. Vaughn was mentioned. It is the theory of the prosecution that Dr. Hull furnished strychnine.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter prior to his arrest, Dr. Hull expressed no fear as to the outcome of the investigation.

"I am confident it will be shown that Prof. Vaughn died from natural causes," he said. "I am well acquainted with him and with his wife's family, and have treated all of them at times, and it is my opinion that Prof. Vaughn was a sufferer from Bright's disease. Full acquaintance with the facts of his death may show that it was due to uremic poisoning from Bright's and this would, of course, explain his convulsions. I was not present when he died, and had not seen him for some time before that, and only offer this as a possible explanation.

"Whatever the cause of his death, I have nothing to fear, as I am innocent of it. I could have had no motive in the matter, and I assuredly did not furnish any poison, in any form, to any person who could have administered it to him."

Dr. Hull denied that he had visited Quincy with the other suspect, whose name was frequently mentioned during the interview, and whose arrest is expected within the next day or two.

DELEGATES WHO FAVORED TERMINAL ARE WAVERING

Two Who Aided Progress of Ranken Tract Bill Believed to Contemplate Changing Attitude, Which Would Defeat Gift to Combine.

With the House of Delegates on record, by a vote of 16 to 12, in favor of the Terminal Association's Ranken tract bill, opponents of the bridge arbitrary believe that there is still a chance to prevent its final passage at next Tuesday's session.

Two of the 16 members who voted Wednesday night to send the bill to engrossment are believed to be wavering in their support. The loss of two votes to the measure when placed on its passage would leave the House divided 14 to 14, and would virtually kill the bill. The absence from Tuesday night's meeting of two supporters of the bill would have the same effect as a changed vote.

The bill will be reported at Friday night's session by the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills. After this formality it must lie over until the following meeting, next Tuesday, at which time it can be placed on its passage. It could be placed on its passage Friday, immediately after the committee's report, if a two-thirds majority voted to suspend the rules for the purpose, but there is believed to be no likelihood of such action.

If the Terminal holds its 16 votes, or 15 of them, and succeeds in passing the bill, it will then go to the Council. Its slight chance of passage there is believed to be indicated by the resolution adopted by a majority of the councilmen, declaring against any concessions to the Terminal while the bridge arbitrary is retained.

The exhaustive report of the shoe manufacturers' committee, demanding the removal of the arbitrary, and declaring that the railroads need St. Louis as much as St. Louis needs the railroads, has strengthened the attitude of the Council opponents of the measure.

That the delegates sent the bill to engrossment, so soon after receiving the shoe men's request for its defeat, caused considerable comment at the City Hall Thursday. Opponents of the arbitrary regarded the shoe men's presentation of the case as convincing. The chief argument which had been made for the bill, that all the shippers favored it, was demolished by the action of the shoe manufacturers, whose shipping business is the largest in St. Louis.

It has been reported from time to time that the Terminal was holding one inducement in reserve for the Council—the removal of the 25-cent bridge charge for passengers.

Plan to Drop Passenger Arbitrary.

Before the bill now sent to engrossment in the House was introduced it was said to be the plan to pass through the House a bill giving the Terminal what it wanted on the best terms that could be made. Then, the report went, it was planned to meet the Council objections by a compromise, in which the passenger arbitrary would be removed and the freight arbitrary, within the 100-mile zone, retained.

That the bill, if passed by less than 19 votes in the House, will be illegal and irregular, is the contention of Delegates Igoe and Hilkerbaumer, two of its opponents. They declare that the clause providing for the payment of $1,000,000 to the city is a compromise settling old claims, and that therefore it must have a two-thirds' majority, or 19 votes.

Delegate Taussig, a supporter of the bill, moved to amend it by striking out all reference to the former claims which were to be settled by the payment of the $1,000,000. In their objections to this amendment, Igoe and Hilkerbaumer raised the point as to the bill's legality, if passed by less than a two-thirds majority.

The Taussig amendment was carried by the same 16 votes which later sent the bill to engrossment. Hilkerbaumer declared that, if the reason for the payment did not appear in the bill, the city would still have its old claims against the Terminal.

Two collateral bills, one of which would repeal the ordinance requiring the Merchants' Bridge and Terminal Railroad to build a passenger station in North St. Louis at a cost of $200,000, and another relieving the Terminal Association from paying $150,000 toward the construction of a viaduct over the Union Station train sheds, cannot pass.

Speaker Rombauer and Chairman Russell of the Railroads Committee admit that these bills contemplate a compromise and will need 19 votes. No such majority can be obtained for them. These obligations still confront the Terminal Association.

The Speaker concedes that the compromise of old claims against the Terminal Association was a "mere incident" of the bill. He does not define, however, to what extent it was "incidental."

In section eight of the bill Delegate Hilkerbaumer found another questionable provision. This is one that pledges the Terminal Association to charge only "reasonable and uniform" rates for switching.

This section would repeal the ordinances under which the Merchants' Bridge Terminal Co., the St. Louis Transfer Railway Co. and other constituents of the Terminal are limited to rates of $1 and $2 a car, Hilkerbaumer declared.

To correct the bill, he proposed an amendment imposing on the Terminal Association the duty of obtaining from its proprietary companies an agreement that charges on freight and passengers transported between St. Louis and points in the 100-mile radius be assessed on a mileage basis.

His amendment was promptly filed on motion of Delegate Taussig. Hilkerbaumer then made the point that in filing the amendment at that stage, the clerk had filed the bill. He was overruled by Speaker Rombauer.

In a bitter speech Delegate Eilers arraigned the Terminal Association and leaders in the House. Speaker Rombauer characterised Mr. Eiler's words as "inoperate."

"The Terminal Association has long been playing fast and loose with us," said Mr. Eilers. "That policy will be continued in the future. One of the grossest outrages perpetrated on St. Louis is the foisting of this bill on our people.

"I don't wonder that men outside the Municipal Assembly are astonished that the Terminal Association can get the votes it has here tonight," he declared, raising his voice to a high pitch, and looking at the delegates who had been supporting the bill.

Ashamed of House's Action.

"Some things this House does are absurd, and some make me ashamed. This bill doesn't protect the city. Its provisions are loose, indefinite and vague. They are just what the Terminal Association would have them. The city is not getting a 'square deal.' If this measure passes, men will say the city was robbed.

"There are enough defects in this bill to eternally condemn it. The people will put a premium on good legislation, and this House ought to give it to them.

"In the Railroads Committee we are told: 'The Terminal is here—what are you going to do about it?' That was the argument used to win votes for this bill. The president of the Terminal Association said in the conference in the Mayor's office that his company fixed rates, but he declined the challenge to prove that they are just.

"This is the only chance the city will have to get what is due it. This bill was rushed through without proper and sufficient safeguards and considerations."

Speaker Rombauer reminded Mr. Eilers that terminal legislation had been the subject of discussion for months.

"You were absent from many of the conferences, although you were invited," Mr. Rombauer declared.

"That's true, and when I heard President McChesney flatly refuse to justify his company's charges that was all the evidence I needed that the 'arbitraries' were unfair and burdensome and ought to be abolished," Eilers replied.

Robert B. Burkham, secretary to Mayor Kreismann, was in the House of Delegates when it convened, and went among the members while the debate was in progress. If his intention was to give by his presence the Mayor's approval to the Terminal's bill, the result was not flattering to either of them.

Could Not Suspend Rules.

The roll calls showed that there were not enough votes to pass the bill as a compromise, or to suspend any rule in its favor. Among its supporters were Delegates "Jiggers" Gallagher, "Boots" Brennan, Tirre and Paule, who were in the bi-partisan combine in the last House of Delegates.

Brennan is a lessee of the Terminal Association. Tirre sells coal to the Illinois Central Railroad, one of the proprietors of the Terminal Association.

In withdrawing from the ranks of the bill's advocates, after having signed the Railroads Committee's majority report in behalf of it, Delegate Jacobs caused his former associates much chagrin. They were eager to have a two-thirds' majority, predicted that they were that strong, and were visibly disappointed when they weren't.

Jacobs explained that he had concurred in the report simply to bring the bill before the House. Having done that, he said, he decided to fight the measure, and on all roll calls was aligned with its opponents.

Claqueurs posted about the chamber of the House applauded all the speeches advocating the Terminal's cause. Many of them were employes of concerns which signed the Terminal's petitions. Several were members of the shippers' committee that appeared before the Railroads Committee two weeks ago to urge the bill's adoption.

Judged by the demonstration that met the remarks of those fighting the measure, the champions of the Terminal were out in the larger force.

The parliamentary battle was waged with cleverness on both sides. Friends of the bill had the advantage in all rulings by Speaker Rombauer, but the Terminal's enemies improved every opportunity of attack and have undoubtedly left the bill a subject of litigation if it should find favor in the Council.

It was agreed by the minority that there should be no attempt to defer action. It was to be a fight to a finish one way or another.

There will be but 11 more meetings of the Council after the Terminal's bill reaches that branch of the Assembly. Even should the Councilmen wish to pass it, they will not have time if they give it the same period of consideration it had in the House—six weeks.

DELEGATE BELIEVES CHANGE IN THE BILL MAKES IT ILLEGAL

DELEGATE HILKERBAUMER, a leading opponent of the Terminal bill, said Thursday that the action by which it was sent to engrossment was illegal.

"The charter provides," said Hilkerbaumer, "that no amendment shall be incorporated in a bill which changes the bill's purpose. This is what was done when Delegate Taussig amended the Terminal bill so as to eliminate the grounds on which the city was to receive $1,000,000.

"The original bill had two purposes: First, to compromise certain old claims of the city against the Terminal; second, to grant the Terminal certain privileges.

"Bills for the compromising of claims against the city require a two-thirds vote for passage. The supporters of the Terminal bill saw it was not going to get 19 votes and decided to eliminate the compromise feature.

"Taussig's amendment striking out the compromise feature certainly changes the purpose of the bill. For that reason it is illegal, and the action of the House in sending the bill to engrossment is also illegal. It could be remedied only by reconsidering and filing the bill and passing a new one.

"But if a new bill, without the compromise feature, were passed, the old claims against the Terminal would still be in full force, for the bill, as it stands now, says nothing about them."

GETS DIVORCE BECAUSE WIFE WOULD NOT PRAY WITH HIM

Kansan Obtains Decree When He Alleges Wife Said Kneeling "Hurt Her Knees."

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 24.—Because his wife would not pray, A. F. Barker, 73 years old, obtained a divorce in the District Court here yesterday.

Mrs. Barker is 63 years old. Barker testified that for 45 years he had prayed and read the Bible after supper, but his wife would not bow her head.

"She told me she was a Christian when we were married," said Barker, "but the Sunday after she wouldn't go to church, nor did she go on the Sunday following. After supper she would not kneel when I prayed. When I asked her to kneel, she said: 'It hurts my knees.'"

MILLIONAIRE'S SON HELD ON CHARGES OF CHICAGO POLICE

William Lee White, Taken at Planters, Is Accused of Confidence Game.

While preparing to attend a theater box party, William Lee White, 22 years old, son of a millionaire contractor of New Orleans, was arrested Wednesday night at the request of the Chicago police on a charge of being implicated in a confidence game. He is held for Chicago police.

White says he is unable to account for the charge and denies that he has been interested in any confidence scheme. While in St. Louis he has been living at the Planters Hotel. He arranged to attend a theater performance as one of a party of four—two men and two women—and they were leaving the hotel when he was taken into custody.

White says he was engaged in superintending levee work south of New Orleans until high water forced its suspension. In his spare time White says he went to Chicago. During his 15 days' stay there he says he drank a great deal and ran out of money, but that he does not remember of making any misrepresentations.

He says his mother, sister and two brothers are spending the winter at Los Angeles, Cal., and that his father is in Arizona.

John Baker of the firm of John Scott & Sons, Times Building, said Thursday that White is a son of E. P. White of Scott, White & Smith, with which his firm is interested in a contract in Arizona. Baker visited White in the jail and is making efforts to find the boy's father in Arizona, to notify him of his son's arrest.

PASTOR SUED FOR DIVORCE HIS WIFE AND THEIR CHILD WITH WHOM SHE HAS FLED

GERTRUDE EARL HEWSON

REV. EARL HEWSON

MRS EARL HEWSON

PASTOR HEWSON'S WIFE SUING FLEES WITH HER CHILD

Fears Kidnaping and Disappears as Divorce Case Is Called for Trial.

Mrs. Gertrude Hewson, whose suit for divorce against the Rev. Earl Hewson, pastor of Reber Place Congregational Church, was continued in the Circuit Court at Clayton, Wednesday, has taken her 6-year-old daughter, Gertrude, and fled from St. Louis.

She told her friends she had learned her husband had planned to kidnap her little girl, and that as she felt she could not live without the child, she had decided to run away. She told no one where she was going.

When Mrs. Hewson was not in court Wednesday to prosecute her suit against her pastor husband, and her lawyer, Loomis C. Johnson, asked for a continuance. Later, when he tried to reach her at the hotel he was told she was out.

Mrs. Hewson told friends before leaving that her husband had failed for several weeks to pay her a weekly allowance of $6. She was so alarmed Monday when he sent for the little girl to stay with him for three days, as ordered by the court, that she refused to let the child go.

Instead, she began making quiet but hasty preparations for her flight. Mrs. Hewson has been living at the Park Hotel since her separation from her husband, four years ago. The manager of the hotel says he has no idea where she has gone, as she gave no inkling of her destination.

Mrs. Hewson discussed with friends the matter of dismissing the divorce suit against her husband, but she left no instructions to that effect. Hewson has been busy all week preparing for the divorce trial. When the case was called Mrs. Hewson had been gone from St. Louis for 20 hours.

The trouble between the Hewsons did not end with their separation. By a ruse Hewson got possession of the child immediately after the separation, and Mrs. Hewson brought a habeas corpus suit to recover it. The Court awarded the custody of the child to Mrs. Hewson, but specified that Hewson was to have her three days a week. Mrs. Hewson complained because he did not come in person for the little girl, but sent someone else for her.

Hewson is still pastor of the Reber Place Congregational Church, although his domestic troubles involved him in a controversy with the Congregational Ministers' Alliance, which demanded that he and his wife kiss and make up before he should be admitted to membership.

BELL'S RIVAL CLAIMANT TO TELEPHONE'S INVENTION DEAD

Prof. Amos Emerson Dolbear, 73 years old, who claimed to be the inventor of the telephone and contested the right of the Bell Telephone to use several original patents for years, died Wednesday afternoon at Boston, according to dispatches. He is survived by a widow, two daughters and three sons.

Miss Katherine E. Dolbear, a teacher at Hosmer Hall, and Miss Mary Dolbear, a teacher at the Mary Institute, live in St. Louis. Two sons live in California. Mrs. Dolbear and her youngest son live in Boston.

Prof. Dolbear had been a teacher of physics at Tufts College, Boston, for 30 years before his death. His health had been failing for the last

When the telephone was invented Prof. Dolbear procured a patent on the invention. About the same time, according to the statement of Miss Mary Dolbear, the Bell Telephone Co. was given a patent. He was unsuccessful in his suits.

Miss Katherine Dolbear has been ill at her home at McMillan Hall for several days. Her sister has been attending her. Neither will be able to attend the funeral of their father.

NORTH SIDE DEMOCRATIC CLUB IS TO GIVE UP ITS CHARTER

The North Side Democratic Club, of which State Representative Felix (Fish) McAdams is manager, will be only an unsavory memory of the Police Department after March 21. On that date its officers have agreed to surrender the club charter to the State authorities and deliver up the keys of the premises. The interval will be used in disposing of the club's effects.

Four of the officers were arraigned in Judge Wilson H. Taylor's court Thursday on eight charges of selling liquor without a license. They pleaded guilty and sentence was deferred until March 21 on their promise that the club would be closed forever. The men on trial were Otto Baute, steward; George O'Leary, John McAdams and James Gillion. The club is at 1430 North Ninth street.

Circuit Attorney Jones Thursday requested Chief of Police Creecy to suppress three other lid clubs, the North Side Athletic Club, 1229 Benton street; Tammany Democratic Club, 1307-9 Biddle street, and the Lorraine Club, 108 North Jefferson avenue. Jones also directed Assistant Circuit Attorney Ferris to bring quo warranto proceedings against the clubs. If these three are put out of business it will make 29 in all that have quit since Jones recently took the lid club question before the grand jury.

DENEEN FIGHT CAUSES DEADLOCK ON WATERWAY

Illinois Legislature Adjourns Until Next Tuesday Without Action.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 24.—The Illinois Assembly adjourned today and the special session goes over until next Tuesday, with the deep waterway question in a deadlock. The Deneen men contend that the enemies of the Schmitt bill are seeking to kill legislation on this subject through a process of delay.

The Lorimer men reply that the Deneen men realize they are whipped and want a recess now which represents a complete switch in their position; on the other hand, Deneen, in a speech last night before the State farmers' convention at Edwardsville, accused the opponents of the State administration of delaying the Schmitt bill for the purpose of playing the State's natural resources into the hands of private interests.

Makes an Impression.

The address made an impression as every member of the House present today read it this morning.

According to one report today, the Lorimer men had planned a grand rally of strength in the House for this week, but Lorimer's call to Washington prevented the mobilization.

The plan is to bring all the Republican congressmen from Illinois to Springfield and line them up against the Deneen deep waterway. Lorimer, it is said, has had an easy task in inducing them to do so, because they all blame Deneen for the appearance of opposition candidates in their districts.

In nearly every instance where an opponent to a sitting member has appeared he has been a Deneen man; for instance, Reynolds against Fuller, Copely against Snapp, Funk against Sterling, Dailey against Gregg, Hurburgh against Prince. To rebuke Deneen for this alleged interference with their affairs they are ready to join Lorimer, it is said, to defeat the Deneen waterway water power bill.

Take the Post-Office Out of Politics

In attempting to charge up the deficit in his Department against the magazines the Postmaster-General has done the country a genuine, even if an unintentional, service. He has drawn attention to the necessity for a thorough reorganization of the Postal Department. He has emphasized the importance of taking the Post-Office out of politics for all time.

The Fifty-ninth Congress authorized an investigation of postal affairs, and a joint commission, headed by Senator Penrose and Representative Overstreet, made a thorough investigation of the whole subject. As a result, the Overstreet bill, which contains many excellent recommendations, was presented. It is not from guesswork that we have concluded that the Department is in need of radical reorganization, but from the official reports of this Joint Congressional Postal Commission and of the disinterested accountants hired by it to investigate the business methods of the Department. We quote from these reports, remembering that the findings and criticisms are not ours, but those of a Congressional Commission and its authorized agents. First read these recommendations from the preliminary report of the Joint Postal Commission, in this week's number of

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

Then read these extracts from the report of the public accountants employed by the Joint Commission:

"The service has grown from small beginnings over a long period of years, hampered by restrictive laws which may have been necessary in the past and may even now be considered necessary to some extent for a Government department, but which would render it practically impossible for any private business to survive.

"The general absence of any efficient methods of accounting has been brought to light by the inquiry carried out by the Joint Commission on second-class mail matter. This report was referred to Congress on January 30, 1907, and our investigation has confirmed the impression gathered from the study of it, that the whole of these methods are crude in the extreme and such as no private business concern or corporation could follow without the certainty of loss, if not of financial disaster."

In the Joint Postal Commission's report of 1907 we find:

"As an indication of the views at present entertained it is proper to say that the commission is profoundly impressed with the wisdom of the accountant's report in recommending the following:

"That the actual direction of the business of the Post-Office Department and postal service be committed to an officer with necessary assistants to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for long terms, so as to insure the continuity of efficient service, and that the Postmaster-General, as a member of the Cabinet, be chargeable only with general supervisory control and the determination of questions of policy."

We ask Congress to give us a Director of Posts—as recommended by the Joint Congressional Committee of 1907, an officer who shall be non-political, and whose term of service shall not be subject to political changes, and who shall conduct the workings of the Post-Office Department with the efficiency, economy, and businesslike methods which distinguish high-class American business enterprise.

FRENCH SENATORS DUEL WITH SWORDS AND ONE IS WOUNDED

Injured Man Wants to Continue, but Seconds Interfere; They Are Reconciled.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Senators Millies-Lacroix and Lintilhac fought a duel with swords in the Parc Des Princes this morning. At the first encounter Millies-Lacroix neatly parried a lunge by Lintilhac, and ran the latter through the forearm. Lintelhac wished to continue, but the seconds stopped the combat. The adversaries were reconciled before leaving the field.

The duel was the outgrowth of a dispute among the members of the Senate Committee on Secrecy of the Ballot of which committee Millies-Lacroix is president. The President called Lintilhac a liar, and the latter responded:

"My seconds will deliver my answer."

Senator Millies-Lacroix was formerly Minister of the Colonies, and is 60 years of age. Senator Lintilhac is three years younger. Both are heavily built. When they faced each other today they were attired in blouses and trousers of soft linen.

BUYS 184 SEATS TO TAKE ENTIRE SENATE TO SHOW

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Col. James Gordon, the venerable ex-Confederate, who will be relieved in a day or two as Senator from Mississippi by Col. Leroy Percy, who has been elected to that office by the Legislature, was signally honored Wednesday afternoon by being invited by Vice-President Sherman to preside for a time over the Senate. When Vice-President Sherman resumed the gavel at the end of about an hour, he found on his desk these rhymes:

I sat in the President's chair today,
When the Senate was drowsy and thin,
And a nice young chap was prating away,
Who never had hair on his chin.

A bright little fellow by name of Brown,
Who should be at home in his own little town,
Studying in some primitive institution,
The A B C's of the great Constitution.

I've been chased by the "Yanks," and have suffered from sin,
And have writhed in my bed with terrible pain,
But if God forgives me for where I have been,
I'll promise never to sit here again.

Senator Brown of Nebraska was speaking on the income tax while Senator Gordon presided. Senator Gordon was called on to discharge some routine business, and with the assistance of a written guide got along splendidly.

Col. Gordon may be permitted to make a sort of farewell address to the Senate. He is doing quite an unheard-of thing—he has invited the entire Senate to be his guests at the theater and has supplied each member with seats, 184 in all, for two for next Monday night.

As the story goes, Col. Gordon went over to Philadelphia Tuesday and witnessed a performance of "The Gentleman from Mississippi," which, it is said, is partially based on incidents in the Senator's own life. As the tale unfolds, the aged statesman never before had attended a theatrical exhibition, he was "tickled to death." He determined then and there to show his associates what he had seen.

TEN INDICTMENTS ARE SCHEDULED IN PACKING INQUIRY

St. Louis Firm Among Subsidiaries of Trust to Be Named in True Bill.

AFTER THE OFFICIALS

Government Would Fasten Responsibility Upon Individuals Personally.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—The Federal investigation of the beef packers, after four weeks of work, and the examination of more than 50 witnesses, has narrowed down to the attempt to fasten the responsibility for the misdeeds of corporations upon individuals.

Men of great importance in the packing world testified yesterday before the grand jury, but the climax will be reached today, when P. A. Valentine, who married J. Ogden Armour's sister-in-law, the widow of the late Philip D. Armour Jr., and is a former vice-president of Armour & Co., now an officer of the National City Bank of New York, will respond to the subpena served on him at his eastern residence.

It is now considered certain that the National Packing Co. and its constituent companies will be indicted as a combination in restraint of trade. The Government prosecutors are proceeding cautiously, however, determined not to indict unless they can convict, and while directors are theoretically responsible for the acts of a corporation, their responsibility must be brought home to them by evidence showing beyond a reasonable doubt that they had knowledge of the misdeeds and either ordered or confirmed them.

Will Be Asked About Big Loan.

Clerks' testimony, books, documents and testimony of independent packers and buyers are said to warrant corporate indictments. But the personal testimony of men high in the councils of the packers will be necessary to warrant indictment of individuals and for this reason such men as Valentine and those heard yesterday are being summoned. Those who testified were: James D. Standish, former secretary of the National Packing Co., now president of the Hammond-Standish Co. of Detroit, a concern founded by the Hammond who has corporations in the National Packing Co., but which still are independent; John Mathias, assistant general manager of the National Packing Co.; E. G. James, head of the Omaha Packing Co., one of the largest of the subordinate companies of the National; George Edwards, supreme over the New York interests of Swift & Co.; John Pavitt, manager for Morris & Co. in Baltimore, and Charles W. Thompson of the Drovers' Commission Co., who has fought a 20-year battle as an independent buyer in the stockyards.

Valentine when on the stand will be asked as to his knowledge of the loan of $15,000,000 which Armour, Swift and Morris obtained from Kuhn, Loeb & Co. six years ago for the purpose of forming the National Packing Co. He was in charge of Armour's finances at the time.

Firms to Be Indicted.

The subsidiary corporations of the National Packing Co. said to be scheduled for indictment are: The Hammond Packing Co. of Illinois, the G. H. Hammond Co. of Michigan, Anglo-American Provision Co. of Illinois, Omaha Packing Co. of Illinois, United Dressed Beef Co. of New York, New York Butchers' Dressed Meat Co. of New York, Western Packing Co. of Colorado, Colorado Packing and Provision Co. of Colorado.

St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision Co. of Missouri and the Plankington Packing Co. of Wisconsin.

The indictment and conviction of these companies would be useful mainly as evidence in a subsequent suit in equity for the dissolution of the National Packing Co. The maximum fine that can be imposed on a corporation for violation of the anti-trust act is $5000 for each count. Unless a phenomenal number of counts were drawn up, as in the Standard Oil case, the fine would be insignificant to the financial giants on which it is proposed to inflict it.

BEVERIDGE THINKS ALASKAN COAL IS WORTH 2 BILLION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—"I believe the value of the coal deposits in Alaska has been greatly underestimated," said Senator Beveridge, in introducing measures for the conservation of these resources. "I am convinced the coal in the Bering River and Cook, districts alone will aggregate in value $2,000,000,000."

Senator Beveridge referred to the declarations made before the Committee on Territories by Messrs. John N. Steele and Stephen Birch, representatives of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, that the coal deposits of the Bering River district were worth $900,000,000, but that it would require $700,000,000 to develop them. He said that would leave a net profit of $200,000,000 or nearly 30 per cent. If it cost $1,400,000,000 to develop the two districts there would remain, on Mr. Beveridge's estimate, a clear profit of $600,000,000.

Figures prepared by the Geological Survey, Mr. Beveridge said, show that there are more than fifteen billion tons of coal in Alaska. He believed these figures were conservative. He said coal from this vast supply would soon be required for use on the Pacific Coast, and in the near future throughout the entire country.

Senator Beveridge introduced two bills intended to carry out his plans for saving coal. One reserves all coal lands in Alaska to the Government; the other provides for leasing the coal deposits for mining on a royalty. The surface grounds are to be sold for homesteads, while the deposits underneath are to be leased. The lease measure prohibits the leasing of more than 2560 acres to more than one person or association for more than 30 years. The bills were referred to the Committee on Public Lands, and Senator Nelson, the chairman, gave assurance that legislation would be recommended by the committee.

Mr. Beveridge pointed out that in 1906 President Roosevelt withdrew all these coal lands from entry, but that no law had ever been passed confirming this withdrawal. It was to confirm this withdrawal that he introduced the first bill.

MOVING PICTURES SHOW LIFE OF FLY THAT CAUSES DISEASE

Entomologist Brings His Audience to a Realization of the Insect's Danger.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Dr. L. O. Howard of the Bureau of Entomology gave a public moving picture show and lecture on the house fly yesterday. He has computed that Americans spend $10,000,000 a year on fly screens. But it was impossible to compute how much more they had to spend through cholera, typhoid and other diseases caused by the fly. Ninety-nine per cent of the flies were due to neglect by stable inspectors, he said.

Many of the visitors were unable to bear the sight of the horrors displayed in the realistic pictures magnified 200 times of the "simple life," as lived by the common house fly.

"BROKEN HEART" CAUSED DEATH OF UNBELOVED WIFE

Daughter Publishes Notice Worded as Her Dying Mother Requested.

MARRIAGE NOT HAPPY

Girl Explains That Father Was Too Absorbed in Business Affairs.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—"Died—On Sunday, Feb. 20, of a broken heart, Mary, unbeloved wife of Thomas Jenks. Funeral services Thursday, Feb. 24, at 2 p. m., at her late residence, 349 Hawthorne street, Flatbush. Interment at Greenwood."

Clad in a light silk robe as near like her wedding dress as she could arrange for in the short hour before her death, her hands without the wedding ring that through all her troubles she had stuck to, the body of Mrs. Mary Jenks of 349 Hawthorne street, Brooklyn, lies amid a profusion of flowers waiting for the funeral.

"Dead of a broken heart," her daughter said, "and the notice that I sent to the papers read, 'The unbeloved wife of Thomas Jenks,' at her own request."

Husband Would Not Forgive.

It is the story of a woman who treasured the bitterness that had grown in her heart against her husband, with whom she could not agree, and who, knowing that she was dying, refused to soften it, but instead made her daughter promise that the father should never look upon her dead face, that the marriage ring that she had worn so persistently be taken off her finger as soon as she was dead, and that the husband and father be turned away from the funeral should he appear.

"My mother was only a little English girl of 15 when she was married to my father," said Ida May Jenks, 22 years old, this morning. "She was a little English girl playing on her father's farm at Staffordshire, a dark-eyed, dark-haired, rosy cheeked child. Father was a tall, solemn-eyed, serious man of 35 then—too old and too serious for a laughing girl like her. But he loved her, and with her it was a case of adoration for the first few years.

Absorbed in Making Money.

Twenty-nine years ago they came to America and he got the place of superintendent of a cloak factory and became absorbed in the making of money. After their first two babies died in infancy and the third, a bright-faced little girl, died at 2 years, they began to grow away from each other.

"He was growing rich—and my mother's heart was breaking. Finally, in September, 1905, Mamma brought suit for separation and $20 a week alimony."

The records of the suit show that Mrs. Jenks lost it.

Friends of Thomas Jenks said today that he is an excellent man, and is noted in the factory for his generosity.

WANT AD BRINGS RESULTS BEFORE IT IS INSERTED

Post-Dispatch Reader Finds Finder of Lost Charm by Applying at Office.

Post-Dispatch want ads sometimes bring results, even before the papers are on the street. This may seem an astounding statement, but it is literally true. The experience of Arthur S. Partridge proves it.

Partridge is a dealer in street railway supplies and has offices in the New Bank of Commerce Building. Monday evening Partridge lost a valuable diamond-studded watch charm. He did not discover his loss until Tuesday morning. When he missed the charm he involuntarily exclaimed:

"All honest people read the Post-Dispatch!" And forthwith he hurried as fast as street cars and his feet would carry him to the want ad counter.

W. B. Perkins, a traveling salesman, who has offices at 503 Columbian Theater Building, had picked up the watch charm Monday night. As he was examining it he said:

"This is a very fine piece of work. Its owner must be an intelligent man of best taste. I am sure that he is a reader of the Post-Dispatch." And Perkins, like Partridge after him, made haste to reach the office of the Post-Dispatch.

Perkins inserted a "found" ad. When the owner of the charm called with his "lost" ad, the Post-Dispatch clerk told him:

"Why, the man who found your charm has already been here and he has left an ad which will appear in today's paper."

The clerk then directed Partridge to Perkins' office.

"I never knew a newspaper whose ads bring such quick results," said Partridge as the honest Perkins handed to him his lost watch charm.

"So, I, either," said Perkins, whose ad obtained its end before the newspaper began to cry the day's editions. Mrs. Whiteside of 712 Clara avenue, who is connected with the McNair-Harris Co., is the latest convert of the want ads. They were the means by which Mrs. Whiteside recovered a valuable diamond ring she had lost.

"Though we lost the ring Saturday night at the Columbia Theater," said Whiteside Thursday, "we did not advertise in the Post-Dispatch until Tuesday. I doubted whether it would do any good, but Wednesday morning we received a note from Mrs. R. Bultman of 3145 Clifton place, stating that she had read the lost ad in the Post-Dispatch, and that she had the ring, which she would return to us Wednesday afternoon. I had offered a reward, but was not at home when Mrs. Bultman called with the ring. She would not take anything from my wife, but as soon as I arrived home I mailed her a check."

Cures Indigestion and Upset Stomach, or Money Back

Mi-o-na is the Greatest Prescription for All Stomach Ills

People who suffer from sour stomach, fermentation of food, distress after eating and indigestion, and seek relief in large chunks of artificial digestors, are killing their stomachs by inaction just as surely as the victim of morphine is deadening and injuring beyond repair every nerve in his body.

What the stomach of every sufferer from indigestion needs is a good prescription that will build up his stomach, put strength, energy and elasticity into it, and make it sturdy enough to digest a hearty meal without artificial aid.

Mi-o-na is the best prescription for indigestion ever written, is sold by druggists everywhere, and is rigidly guaranteed to build up the stomach and cure indigestion, or money back.

They act quickly in cases of heart burn, wind on stomach, bloating and belching, and, remember, that Mi-o-na is also a most reliable tonic and restorative. There is no better remedy in the world for loss of nervous tone, nerve exhaustion from overwork, loss of appetite, annoying dreams or nightmare, and sick headache.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold in large boxes, for only 50c. Remember the name, Mi-o-na stomach tablets. They never fail. They contain ingredients that give quick relief (other than strong digesters), but they are compounded for the purpose of making the stomach strong and energetic enough to do its work without the aid of harmful drugs.

If you cannot get Mi-o-na in your town, Booth's Mi-o-na, Buffalo, N. Y., will fill mail orders, and prepay charges.

MRS. HARY'S SONS LONG DEAD, STILL GIVE HER ADVICE

It Was Hearing Their Voices That Led Her to Embrace Spiritualism.

REBELLED AT FIRST

But When She Disobeyed Warnings She Fell and Hurt Her Head.

How Mrs. Klara T. Hary, president of the First German Spiritualistic Society, as well as treasurer of the Missouri Association of Spiritualists, whose convention at the Temple at 4151 Delmar boulevard adjourns today, came to enter the cult, is a story as pathetic as it is unusual. To a Post-Dispatch reporter Mrs. Hary told the motives and circumstances that prompted her to take up the study of spiritualism.

"In 1884," said Mrs. Hary, "all four of my sons were taken from me by death. How I survived the last one is a mystery to me now when I look back and think of the terrible heartaches and despair I then endured.

"When I was well enough to venture outside I used to pause with my hand on the doorknob and half unconsciously and wonderingly wait for the sound of the cheerful young voices to bid me good-by, counsel me to take my big coat and warn me against the slippery sidewalk.

"It did not seem possible that those dear voices were hushed, those loving hands gone forever. The spiritual knowledge I then had told me it was undoubtedly so, but I could not believe it. The condolences of my friends benefited me nothing. I looked to religion, but there was no surcease of sorrow there.

Hears Son's Voice.

"Religion told me I would meet them again after death. But why wait for death? What reason to live and suffer until then? So I took up the study of Spiritualism. And then one morning as plainly and clearly as I can see or feel any object on this earth, as I was leaving the house, standing there in the doorway, I heard the voice of one of my boys say:

"'Mother, take your heavy coat.'

"What I had hoped for and prayed for had happened, but I could not believe it. My whole being tried to fight the idea. I was up in arms against it. 'It was your imagination,' I told myself and took a step intending not to answer. And then his voice spoke again, as tender and true and real as it had the first time and with the self-same words."

"'I will not take the heavy coat; it is too warm,' I answered this time.

"But his voice insisted and I turned back and took down the coat he told me to. Then when I started to walk again his voice counseled me to go south, not north, as I was proceeding. But this time I was obstinate. I would not follow the warning; I would not take further advice from lips that were not real, though they were the lips of one of my own children. I walked north. I went north, but I had not gone 10 feet when I fell and my head struck against an iron fence.

"The heavy coat which he made me wear saved me. The collar I had turned up and it broke the blow. Otherwise, I think, my skull would have been fractured. I turned and went south as I was bid and I have followed the warnings of his voice and the other voices ever since.

"Each day now I see my four sons and talk to them. Just the same as I did when they were on this side. They watch over me constantly. When I am they prescribe medicine for me. And they tell me they are learning more all the time, that they are attending a wonderful school.

"They predict the future for me. They told me months before it happened that the Paris flood was to come. And they told me that the Beef Trust would be investigated. All knowledge seems to be open to them."

Girl's Spirit Is a Mystery.

Speculation is rife among the Spiritualists as to the identity of the beautiful young girl spirit seen by a medium dancing around Dr. Otto Vierling, proffering him bouquets of pink chrysanthemums.

The young girl spirit, the medium said, had been a visitor at the home of Dr. Vierling the other evening. Though Dr. Vierling did not seem aware of the presence of the spirit, according to the medium, and consequently gave no token of acknowledgment to her offerings of flowers, the spirit, nevertheless, expressed herself as pleased with her visit, and said she would call again.

The medium who received the impression of the flower girl spirit's visit to Dr. Vierling was one of those receiving messages from negro spirits at the negro session Wednesday afternoon.

Trying to Boost Legislation.

Petitions protesting against the bill introduced by a Missouri Congressman for special postage rates for newspapers and periodicals carrying ads of fortune tellers, clairvoyants and spiritualists, were circulated among the delegates to the convention Wednesday.

J. B. Bates was in charge of the negro session. Mrs. Baldock, medium, who received the messages, was a very busy person. Thousands of negro spirits appeared anxious to get in communication with their friends here. The "busy" signal had to be resorted to repeatedly by the medium, to the great disappointment of the spirits.

In opening the session Chairman Bates said he had made arrangements for a negro quartet, but that the singers had been scared away by the stories of "spooks" told them by friends.

The convention will adjourn at the close of the Thursday evening session.

Dr. A. Scott Bledsoe of Kansas City at the Thursday morning session proposed a union of St. Louis mediums. Dr. Bledsoe said that at each meeting of the union the mediums could report on the spirits each had talked with since the last meeting.

He also advocated a pay-as-you-depart series of public meetings where messages would be transmitted free by a medium. He said a box might be left at the door into which persons could drop a dime as they left the Temple.

BUDDHIST POPE FLEEING FOR HIS LIFE FROM CHINA

Followers Cover Retreat to India From an Army of 25,000.

By Associated Press.

CALCUTTA, British India, Feb. 24.—The Dalai Lama, the supreme head of the Lamaist hierarchy, who fled from Lhasa on the approach of the Chinese troops, has escaped into Sikkim, a state of India to the south of Tibet and adjoining Darjiling, the British district in which the fugitive will seek an asylum.

The escape of the Dalai Lama was a narrow one, for Chinese troops bent upon his capture hotly pursued him to the borders of Sikkim. The Tibetan Pope traveled day and night and at one of the numerous ferries the Chinese overtook the Tibetan party. His followers, however, engaged their pursuers, thus permitting time for the Lama to reach the frontier.

Second Flight From Shrine City.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—This is the Lama's second exodus from the shrine city. He went into China when the British invaded Tibet under Col. Younghusband in 1904.

Trouble began several months ago, when a force of Chinese encroached on Tibetan territory and levied contributions of Dalai Lama's people. The Tibetans appealed to the Emperor of China for the sake of Buddhism to check them. Although his person was probably in no peril, flight was less undignified than reduction to virtual vassalage.

Younghusband's expedition turned the holy city of Lhasa into a British camp. Dalai Lama's absence covered about four years. All that time he was a nuisance to the Chinese. He set out with a retinue of 414 officials, who had with them 290 horses, 580 camels and 80 tents. His objective then was Urga, in Northern Mongolia. It was estimated that his maintenance cost $5000 a day.

Utah Senator's Daughter Will Become Bride of a New Yorker Early in May

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Official society at the capital has taken much interest in the wedding plans of Miss Edith Sutherland, daughter of Senator and Mrs. George Sutherland of Utah. Her engagement to A. Robert Elmore of New York was announced by her parents last week and the date of the marriage was set for May 3.

The wedding, which will be solemnized in St. Margaret's Episcopal Church here, is regarded as one of the most important events of the early social season. Miss Sutherland is among the popular members of the younger set and her presence at social events has been much sought. She has received an excellent training under the supervision of her mother, who is one of the leading hostesses in senatorial circles. Ever since her debut last winter she has figured prominently in the society life of the capital.

ST. LOUIS TRAIN WRECKED

Reports received Thursday at the office of General Manager Britton of the Cotton Belt Railroad stated that passenger train No. 4, due at Union Station at 5:28 p. m., was delayed until after 1 a. m. at Thornton, Ark., by the derailment of the engine and the front trucks of the mail car.

A misplaced switch caused the accident and the locomotive was overturned, but no one was injured.

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS SUSPECT IN ROSSO MYSTERY

Prisoner Was Arrested at Meeting to Raise Money for Victim's Burial.

Antonio Andonino, alias Windle, was held Thursday by a Coroner's jury for the death of Pietro Rosso, 19 years old, who was struck down early Tuesday while on his way to work. The testimony at the inquest did not show any motive for the act, except that there was "an old grudge" between the men.

The chief witness was Joseph Chiavette, who saw the encounter between Rosso and his slayer, and who identified Andonino as the assailant. Chiavette was arrested with a companion, Tony Ignazio, and said that at the Mounted District Police Station he urged Andonino to confess, in order that the other two might be released.

"I've got a wife and children in Italy," he testified Andonino answered, "and can't afford to be held in jail here."

Ignazio did not positively identify Andonino, but said he looked like Rosso's assailant.

The verdict holds Andonino for homicide. What instrument wes used in the struggle with Rosso did not become known to the jury.

Before the inquest, Andonino stoutly denied his guilt, and said he could prove an alibi. He did not take the stand at the inquest.

Rosso was found near Hereford and Cooper streets with his skull crushed shortly after a struggle with a man. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he died several hours later without regaining consciousness.

Fedele Minnela, Rosso's cousin, told the police if they arrested Andonino he could tell them who struck Rosso. Special Officers Rice and King of the Mounted District arrested Andonino Tuesday evening in a room at 5142 Daggett avenue, where several Italians were taking a collection to bury Rosso. At the Mounted District Station, Chiavette and Ignazio were not sure whether Andonino was the man they saw running away after Rosso fell.

The police took Andonino's shoes and tried to fit them in the snowprints near the scene of the assault, but the tracks had been obliterated.

THE NEW Nemo TRIPLE-STRIP WITH LASTIKOPS BANDLET
THE GREATEST CORSET INVENTION EVER INTRODUCED

№522 $5.00
SELF-REDUCING WITH LASTIKOPS BANDLET

Corset Talks No. 2

Fashion demands extreme slenderness from the waist down, the waist-line to be in normal position and with its natural curves—in other words, the Nemo New American Shape of 1909-10, which was introduced by us A YEAR IN ADVANCE of any other make.

The ONE corset that gives every figure—from stout to slender—this stylish and graceful shape in all its true perfection is the new Nemo—

Self-Reducing No. 522 with Lastikops Bandlet $5.00

Nemo No. 522 produces greater figure-reduction than has ever been possible heretofore, yet with INCREASED COMFORT and absolute SAFETY.

The Semi-Elastic Bandlet—

1. Perfectly supports the abdomen and internal organs from underneath, and therefore is an absolute protection against the evils of tight lacing.

2. Does the work of a $5 to $25 separate abdominal belt, and DOES IT BETTER than any belt; can't slip out of place; no bulk and no bother.

3. Positively prevents the front steels from sticking out at the bottom, even when you are seated.

This is the wonderful new corset that has leaped into fame, from ocean to ocean, in less than two months.

Other Self-Reducing Corsets
$3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $8 and $10

Fifteen different styles—a model for every figure and a price for every purse. Comfort, good health—and ECONOMY, for Nemo Corsets outwear all others.

In good stores throughout the world.

Heart Failure

Of the many deaths from heart failure very few realize in advance the seriousness of their condition. When the heart shows a weakness, such as palpitation, short breath, pain in chest and in side, it needs attention just as much as other organs do when they fail to do their work well. For any condition of heart trouble you can rely on

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy.

It will strengthen and regulate the heart action, and enable it to overcome the strain upon its weakened condition.

"I had heart trouble. My son induced me to try Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. I took in all four bottles for a complete cure."
MRS. M. E. MARVIN, Marion, Ind.

The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

GLENCOE BANDITS HAD DYNAMITE IN HIDING TWO YEARS

Lowe Planned Missouri Pacific Robbery Months Ago, Ebeling Quailed.

18 STICKS ARE FOUND

Explosive and Fuse, Given Into Keeping of Woman, Is Held by Police.

Dynamite with which to blow open the safe of an express car of the Missouri Pacific train, which was robbed at Glencoe, Jan. 21, has been concealed in St. Louis for two years by William W. Lowe, "Jimmie" Lowe and George Ebeling.

The dynamite is now in the possession of Postoffice Inspector A. D. Bunsen, having been turned over to him by Detectives Kaiser and McFarland, to whom it was given by Mrs. Elizabeth McKeal of 2431 Fall avenue, Lowe's cousin.

Mrs. McKeal told a Post-Dispatch reporter Thursday that she had the box, containing 18 sticks of dynamite, for a year before she knew what it was, and that when she learned the contents of the box she was afraid to say anything about it, for fear that she would be in trouble for keeping it.

Chief Scares Detectives.

After the detectives procured the explosive they were given a scare by Chief of Detectives Smith, who, in conveying the dynamite and the detectives to the Deer Street Police Station in his automobile, drove at a speed which frightened Kaiser and McFarland.

The dynamite was prepared for instant use. The sticks were bound together in four packages by electrician's tape. In one bundle was six sticks, in another five, in another four and in the fourth three. The caps were set and the fuse attached. In addition there was about fifty feet of fuse.

The dynamite was given to Mrs. McKeal two years ago in March by Bill Lowe and George Ebeling. Lowe's mother and brother Jimmie at that time lived in the same building with Mrs. McKeal. Bill had come from Washington to attend the funeral of his father. Ebeling came with him. They remained several days.

In a confession to Inspectors Bunsen and Reuter in the jail at Warrenton after finding the dynamite, Ebeling said he and Lowe had planned to rob a train at that time, but that he "got cold feet," and backed out.

According to statements by Mrs. McKeal to the police, Jimmie Lowe, while intoxicated, told her the box contained "stuff they use on trains" and that there was enough of it to blow up the entire block.

The dynamite was brought to St. Louis from Leavenworth, Wash., where Lowe and Ebeling were working on a railroad. They stole it from a work train, according to Ebeling's statement.

When Ebeling refused to go into robbery, Lowe stored it in the McKeal house, Ebeling said, so it would be handy and safe when they wanted it.

When the Glencoe robbery was finally planned they evidently were afraid to go for the dynamite, for fear they would be seen and traced, so they confined their attention to the mail car, and no dynamite was used. The paper wrapped around the dynamite was saturated with nitroglycerin, which had oozed from the dynamite, and it was burned on the levee at the foot of Poplar street, Monday morning by Detectives Kaiser and McFarland.

FEELS FOR FIRE, HAND SCORCHED

Woman Discovers Blaze by Sense of Touch.

Mrs. Ben Wegman, 2935 Dodier street, wanted to discover Thursday whether the fire under the sink in a vacant room of the house in which she lives, had really been put out before the firemen left the premises. She shoved her hand under the sink to determine. The hand was badly scorched.

The fire, which was discovered at 11 p. m. Wednesday night, was practically extinguished by Mrs. Wegman, George Lewis and Mrs. Lewis with buckets of water before the arrival of the engine company. The damage was small. The cause is unknown.

30 SAVED IN $100,000 FIRE THAT BURNS OFFICE BUILDING

Town of Gary, Ind., Threatened by Destruction—Help Sent From Chicago.

GARY, Ind., Feb. 24.—More than 30 lives were saved, several firemen were injured and a property loss of nearly $100,000 resulted from a fire today when the Ohio Building burned. The entire town was threatened with destruction and appeal was made to the Chicago Fire Department for aid.

Thirty firemen from Chicago responded with thousands of feet of hose, and after a hard battle the flames were controlled. It was the worst fire since the steel city was founded.

Among the seriously injured was Frank Umdine, 40 years old, captain of the Gary Fire Department. He fell 20 feet from a ladder, and has a fractured leg, and internal injuries.

The fire started in the furnace room in the basement of the Ohio Building, a three-story stone structure in Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets, in the heart of the business district.

A negro, who it later developed was employed as janitor on the structure, was seen running from the basement and the police arrested him.

The flames spread rapidly before the first automobile engine arrived. The cold was intense and the water froze as soon as it touched the burning structure.

LAMBERT WANTS PAULHAN TO FLY HERE IN APRIL

If Aviator Can Settle With the Wrights Exhibition Will Be Given.

President Lambert of the Aero Club of St. Louis, the successor of L. D. Dozier, inaugurated his second day of office Thursday by getting into telegraphic communication with Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, whose flights in different cities in this country have attracted international attention. Lambert said to a Post-Dispatch reporter there is an excellent chance for St. Louisans to see Paulhan in flights here the first week of April.

"The only open date that Paulhan now has," said Lambert, "is April 1-5. The only obstacle in the way of his appearing here is the litigation growing out of the patent suits of the Wrights. If Paulhan gets an injunction or makes a royalty arrangement with the Wrights he will be seen here the first week in April."

President Lambert was asked whether a syndicate would finance the flights.

Aero Club Will Supply Money.

"The Aero Club of St. Louis will bring him here," was Lambert's answer. He said further that he was not prepared at the present time to announce what site had been chosen for the flights beyond the fact that it was near the city limits. It has been learned by a Post-Dispatch reporter that Lambert and E. R. Cuendet, the secretary of the club, have been out on daily inspection tours of various sites suggested and available as aviation fields.

President Lambert announced that the new officers of the Aero Club of St. Louis would be at 304 North Fourth street. Formerly the headquarters of the club consisted of desk room in the Business Men's League.

Percy Noel, a newspaper man, has been appointed by Lambert as assistant secretary to E. R. Cuendet to take charge of the correspondence of the club and of its offices.

Honeywell Protests.

Lieut. H. E. Honeywell of the Balloon Corps of the First Regiment of Missouri has written Adjutant-General Rumbold, protesting against the order that the members of the corps should be required to learn all the tactics of the Signal Corps.

The 15 members of the Balloon Corps joined the organization with the understanding that they were to learn the military end of ballooning and aeroplaning. So far the only work given them has been drills in the Battery A Armory and lessons in signal tactics. The members of the corps say that they want some actual experience.

"Unless we are given some leeway," said Honeywell to a Post-Dispatch reporter, Thursday, "I am going to resign. I want to give the Balloon Corps men some actual experience up in the air."

The Balloon Corps is composed of prominent young men in St. Louis, all of whom are members of the Aero Club.

SCALPED WHEN HE POKES HEAD INTO ELEVATOR SHAFT

Tailor Was Scanning Depths for Cage When It Hits Him From Above.

Sam Traner, a tailor who was scalped from ear to ear by an elevator in the Marx & Haas plant at Thirteenth street and Washington avenue, is in a critical condition at the City Hospital. The physicians, after scraping the skull, will sew the scalp back in place. It is now hanging by a shred.

"An Indian could not have done a better job," said one of the surgeons.

Traner was on the fourth floor, Wednesday afternoon, peering down the shaft to see whether the elevator was coming. It was coming but from above, and its descending edge grazed his head. His skull was not fractured. He missed having his head crushed by a hair's breadth, according to the doctors.

TAFT REFUSES TO ADDRESS GOTHAM MISSOURI SOCIETY

Sees Delegates, Who Had Been Mistaken for Steamfitters by Doorkeeper.

STONE WILL SPEAK

Nagel and Warner Are Also Scheduled for Talks on Political Subjects.

The Missouri Society of New York, whose honorary membership includes many prominent St. Louisans, will hold its annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, April 14.

President Taft will not attend, and thereby hangs a tale, according to information received in St. Louis Thursday. A committee of two bankers and a real estate man of New York, and a former national bank president of St. Louis, went to Washington, and by an appointment made for them by Secretary Nagel, saw the President, and urged him to go to New York to make a speech.

The story, as told by a St. Louis banker, is that the final argument used by the delegation to induce Taft to go, was that representatives of 33 states would be there to greet him.

Mistaken for Steamfitters.

The President smiled, and said:

"I suppose that will be true if you have me there."

It seems that all the members of the committee except one, wore fur-lined coats and silk hats.

Their general appearance of prosperity, coupled with the difference of costume of one, immediately convinced the White House doorkeeper they were the representatives of the steam fitters expected to visit the President from Norfolk, personally conducted by a Congressman. It was as this delegation, the story runs, that the doorkeeper admitted the Missourians to the ante-room.

The President cited his long list of engagements and begged off and the committee had to leave without succeeding in its mission.

Senator Stone Will Speak.

Secretary of War Dickinson was another counted upon to make an address, but he, too, while saying he would be glad to attend the dinner, asked to be excused from making an address on the ground that he had been making too many speeches.

Secretary Nagel, however, will discuss national issues from a Republican standpoint, as will Senator Warner Senator Stone also is on the list of invited guests.

A large delegation from St. Louis and other points in the State is expected to attend the dinner, which, it is said, will be more than unusually elaborate this year.

SCHOOL BOARD SELECTS MASON & HAMLIN PIANOS

The Soldan High School to Have a Concert Grand and an Upright.

The Board of Education has selected its pianos for the Soldan High School. After a thorough investigation of the merits of all makes it decided in favor of the Mason & Hamlin concert grand, also a Mason & Hamlin upright and a Fischer upright, purchased through Bollman Bros., the sole agents for these famous instruments.

One feature of the Mason & Hamlin which the board especially noted is the "tension resonator," which permanently preserves the arch of the sounding board and gives the Mason & Hamlin unequaled tone. The resonator is patented and used by no other make.

It was the despair of piano makers to provide against the effect of dampness, excessive dryness, heat, cold, etc., upon the sounding board until the Mason & Hamlin resonator was invented.

It is because of the distinct superiority of the Mason & Hamlin over all other instruments that the Bollman Bros. Piano Company selected it, within the past few years, as their leading piano. Since that time it has come into extensive use in this city among the most eminent musicians. Fully 90 per cent of the leading teachers and conservatories have adopted the Mason & Hamlin, and almost every notable musical event where a piano is used is marked by the presence of a Mason & Hamlin. Not only did all the stars of the Boston Opera Company demand Mason & Hamlins for their personal use while here, but hardly any evening passes without the Mason & Hamlin being heard by many of the most cultured St. Louis people. For instance, last night the Mason & Hamlin was used at three different concerts in this city.

CHILDREN BADLY BURNED IN HOSPITAL WITH THEIR FATHER, HURT IN ACCIDENT

Parent Can Hear the Cries, One as She Lies in a Cot Near Him.

While Edward Raybook of 5243 Manchester avenue lies in the City Hospital recovering from a broken leg, he can hear the cries of one of his two children, Henry and Esther, who were seriously burned in a fire at their home while their mother was visiting the father in the hospital.

Henry, 9 years old, occupies the same ward with his father, but Esther, 2 years old, is in the ward just above him. The physicians say she is so badly burned that she may die.

Raybook has not yet been permitted to see his little daughter, but if her condition becomes worse he will be wheeled up the ward to see her before she dies.

The children were burned when Henry poured gasoline in the stove Wednesday afternoon, thinking it was coal oil. The gasoline exploded, setting the house on fire and burning the children.

When Mrs. Raybook returned home she found that the two children were then on the way to the hospital in an ambulance.

Raybook's leg was broken two weeks ago, when a kettle of lead fell on it. It will be weeks before he is able to walk. He is greatly worried over the condition of his two children.

MANAGUA MADE HAPPY BY VICTORY OVER INSURGENTS

Rebels Flee, Leaving Dead on the Field—Four Hundred Killed and Wounded.

By Associated Press.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 24.—The Government's victory appears to have been complete in yesterday's battle near Tipatapa. The insurgents three times charged at a bridge over the Tipatapa, hurling their infantry against Gen. Aguilar's battery of three Maxim guns with the fury of despair, but were unable to force a passage of the river and retired in disorder, abandoning 600 rifles, 15,000 cartridges and their baggage and leaving their wounded upon the field.

The whereabouts of Gen. Chamorro, the leader of the insurgents in the recent battle, are not known here.

The report of the Government victory was received with great rejoicing here, and the celebration over the news continues.

The story of the fighting was told in a dispatch from Gen. Rivas, who was in command of the troops that attacked the insurgents. According to Rivas, the battle began early on Tuesday, the Government forces assuming the offensive by an attack on Tisma, which had been occupied by the insurgents who had mounted two Maxim guns. These guns, commanded by Capt. Godfrey Fowler, formerly of the Thirty-third United States Infantry, did great execution among the loyal troops, and for seven hours Gen. Chamorro had the advantage. Fowler, who is an American, was wounded.

At an opportune moment Rivas was reinforced by the men under Chavarria. Soon afterward Gen. Vasquez and Gen. Aguilar came to the support of the Government lines. Aguilar brought artillery and poured a merciless fire in the ranks of the insurgent infantry.

At sundown the rebels withdrew toward Tipatapa, leaving their dead on the field. The fighting was the most severe of the war thus far, 400 men being killed or wounded.

WHISKEY FOR COLDS

Fine Formula for Old-Time Remedy Cured Thousands Here Last Winter.

The increased use of whiskey for colds is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula:

Mix two ounces of glycerine with eight ounces of good whiskey and add one-half ounce of Concentrated pine compound. Take a teaspoonful or a tablespoonful every four hours.

Any good druggist has these ingredients.

Concentrated pine is a special pine product and comes only in half-ounce bottles, each enclosed in an air-tight case, but be sure it is labeled "Concentrated."

A prominent local druggist says that for several years he has filled this prescription and has seen it make many remarkable cures, often curing the most severe coughs and colds in a day's time. Each one of the ingredients performs a special restorative function.—ADV.

THE HOUSE TERMINAL COMBINE.

The vote in the House of Delegates by which the Terminal bill was jammed through to engrossment was an amazing exhibition of the power of the Terminal combine. The bill was hastily amended to fit a majority, instead of a two-thirds vote. In its amended form it is of doubtful legality. Wholly apart from the question of the validity of the measure it is extremely faulty. The wording of the bill gives great advantage to the Terminal. The power of the city to enforce the provisions of the bill is in doubt.

But with an overwhelming exposition of the faults of the bill and of the injustice practiced toward St. Louis by the Terminal; with a victory for the city practically won, and with an urgent petition from the representatives of the greatest manufacturing interest in St. Louis for the defeat of the bill, in order that the railroads may be induced to treat St. Louis justly, the bill was jammed through. Sixteen members of the House voted for it against the interests of the city and their constituents. The Terminal combine seems as potent in the House as outside.

There is yet time for the members of the House Terminal combine to redeem themselves by standing for public interests against private predatory interests. When the bill comes up for passage the combine members will have a chance to vote for St. Louis.

How true it is that all American cities are essentially the same; a strike in Philadelphia is twin sister to a picnic in Chicago.

VARDAMAN DEFEATED.

By the mass of the American people, news of the defeat of Vardaman in the Mississippi Legislature will be well received. His fame is not based upon any words or deeds that commend him to the public esteem. He may have many good qualities of head and heart, but as a politician he is known chiefly as a man of violent passions and narrow prejudices to which he gives frequent utterance in rude and offensive language. That is enough to turn public judgment against him.

Vardaman undoubtedly has both vigor and virtue. He could not have risen to his present eminence without them. He must have social graces and strong qualities of kindliness and friendship. He could not have gained and held so many friends and followers without them. But all these good qualities have been counteracted by his defects of temper and tongue. Few people in other states give much attention to the internal politics of Mississippi, but they do give heed to men there, as elsewhere, who gain a hearing on national issues. Vardaman is one of that kind. He has spoken and the country has listened, heard and condemned. Nobody wishes any more of his stripe in the United States Senate. In his defeat, Mississippi has the congratulations of all her sister states.

THE COMEDY FEATURE.

Out of the ugly violence and riot in Philadelphia comes a little touch of comedy gay enough to make a scene in an opera bouffe. Four companies of State troops, bearing the fancy title, "Philadelphia Fencibles," commanded by an officer named Thudbert Brazer, marched out to keep the peace. They went as to a picnic. We are told, they wore olive drab trousers. For a time their parade was beautiful and imposing. Then came the comedy.

Posted on both sides a street, at intervals 30 paces apart, with no orders to shoot, or to act in any way, the gay young Fencibles became the sport of the crowd. Street boys mocked at them. Factory girls flirted with them and cut brass buttons from their coats for souvenirs. Finally the mob started at them and in some instances stripped them of cartridge belts and guns. At last a squad of police had to come in and save the military. It was quite funny.

There is going to be much misjudgment of the Fencibles because of the absurdity of their mishap. Some will accuse them of sympathizing with the mob. Others will charge them with a lack of discipline. Still others will call them cowards. Neither criticism would be just. The fiasco of their service was due solely to the incompetency of their commanding officer. He gave them no orders. He is of the type of those who aspire to brass buttons and a sword for parade purposes only. His true banner is the milk-white flag. As for the Fencibles, it may be safely said that if they had been strongly commanded, their service would not have been a picnic, neither for themselves or for the mob.

IN MONOPOLY'S GRIP.

The bridge arbitrary of 20 cents a ton on coal is a tax assessed by monopoly on the greatest natural advantage of St. Louis.

This tax stands not only as an insuperable obstacle in the path of this city's industrial and commercial progress; it also gives rival and competing cities a share in the natural advantage which belongs to St. Louis by right of location.

The facts, to prove these assertions in the eloquence of plain figures and simple arithmetic, have been printed in the Post-Dispatch in 11 sections—each point standing out clearly in demonstration of the contention that the arbitrary violates every principle of justice and is unauthorized by any accepted rule of railroad rate-making. The points have not been challenged. They are unanswerable.

In a simple summing up the facts gain new force and the conclusion becomes inevitable.

1. The United States Census Bureau's "manufacturing district" for St. Louis—the industrial section which the city dominates and of which it is the center and cause—contains 206 square miles, located on both sides the river. Within this district is an abundant supply of coal. Other cities have special advantages of various kinds, but St. Louis is the only city having a practically inexhaustible supply of coal within its own manufacturing district.

In this age and country coal is power. Power is indispensable to manufacturing. Cheap coal, that is, cheap power, is, therefore, the greatest and most valuable of all natural advantages to a city dependent on general manufacturing for growth and progress.

2. The Interstate Commerce Commission is the source of authentic information pertaining to all railroad matters.

This commission has found that the average cost of moving all kinds and classes of freight in this country is ¾ of a cent per ton per mile. Coal is freight of the lowest class. It is handled for the most part mechanically. It is imperishable. It is moved in trains of open cars. In tonnage it is the greatest of all the commodities the railroads handle. Of the 1,521,065,494 tons of freight moved by all the railroads of the country in 1909, 474,564,700 tons, or about 30 per cent, was coal.

It is a simple deduction that the average rate per ton per mile for all kinds and classes of freight is so low as ¾ of a cent because of the enormous tonnage of coal carried at low rates.

Obviously any rate on coal which does not fall below the average rate per ton per mile for all classes of freight is too high. If it is ¾ of a cent it is still too high. If it is above that it becomes extravagant, exorbitant or extortionate to the point of graft according to its excess over ¾ of a cent.

The charge for moving coal from the mines within the St. Louis manufacturing district is 52 cents a ton—32 cents to East St. Louis and 20 cents a ton additional to points on the west side of the river.

The uniform rate of 52 cents a ton to St. Louis makes the rate more than 4 cents per ton per mile from Collinsville; from Mount Olive it is 1.3 cents per ton per mile. Careful consideration of the realities has fixed 18 miles as the average length of the haul from the mine to the point of consumption within the district.

The average rate per ton per mile St. Louis pays for coal is then approximately 3 cents, or four times the average rate per ton per mile for all classes of merchandise carried by all the railroads in the United States.

To this extortionate and grafting rate St. Louis could make less convincing objections if the same coal from the same mines were not hauled over the same roads, and even on the same tracks, to rival and competing cities at rates which are reasonable and not exceptional to the average charges. If this coal from the St. Louis industrial district is not consigned to St. Louis the railroads carry it at the usual average rates.

The rates on St. Louis coal to other cities are always much lower than to St. Louis. They are always much lower than the average rate of ¾ of a cent per ton per mile, as they should be.

St. Louis coal is hauled to Chicago for ½ of a cent per ton per mile—one-ninth the rate St. Louis is taxed for the same coal.

St. Louis coal is hauled to Kansas City—passing through St. Louis—for 6-10 of a cent per ton per mile—one-fifth of the rate St. Louis is taxed for the same coal.

St. Louis coal is hauled to Omaha for 4-10 of a cent per ton per mile—one-seventh of the rate St. Louis is taxed for the same coal.

St. Louis pays five times the rate charged St. Joseph, seven times the rate charged Lincoln and Leavenworth and an average of six times the rate charged all Western cities.

The coal rates to Eastern and Northern cities are always below the average rate per ton per mile for all classes of freight. This general average for the seaboard cities of New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Jersey City is not ¾ of a cent, but .655 cent per ton per mile. Their coal rate is much lower. The average for all classes of freight in the lake cities' district is .598 cent per ton per mile. The coal rate to Detroit, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Chicago is much less than that.

The St. Louis rate is not only high in the comparison with that to cities getting coal from the St. Louis district, but it is extravagantly high when compared with the rate to all cities of the same class.

The terminal railroads have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the accessibleness of the St. Louis coal supply to charge exorbitant rates. They tax the city on its greatest natural advantage, not only through greed of profit, but they compel St. Louis to pay more that competing cities may pay less. For many years St. Louis has been paying a share of the coal bills of Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha.

St. Louis has grown and prospered despite the tribute levied and collected. Its natural advantage has been great enough to admit a handicap. But what would the city be had it been relieved of these burdens? What would it be if the railroads had pursued a policy of fostering St. Louis' industries instead of penalizing them? How rapid would its progress be if it were permitted to realize all the benefits of its mighty natural advantage! To what might it aspire in greatness, size and wealth if it were unhampered by extortionate freight rates and were allowed to reap the full benefits of a union terminal system which should be the cheapest and best instead of the most expensive and most irksome!

St. Louis must shake off the shackles of the terminal monopoly.

THE ARBITRARY MUST GO.

The new Senator from Mississippi, Mr. Leroy Percy, has a name that sounds as if he were designed to be the hero of a best seller.

As it is now said that the Chanticleer is rank plagiarism, we may accept it as settled that it has pleased the public and is a great success.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Responsibility of Physicians.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The recent wave of poisoning cases that have shocked the country and the prominence as defendants of the physicians concerned brings to our attention a very grave defect in our system of medical jurisprudence.

In the complexity of modern civilization we have failed to note that as a people we give too much power into the unrestrained hands of one man. This is true of industry, finance, government and also in the field of medicine and surgery.

A few years of training in a medical college will hardly change a rascal into an angel and we should not be surprised if events force us to realize this truth. Why should we give an M. D. the unequivocal right of life and death over our lives? Why should not a doctor or a surgeon be held accountable to some popular authority for his mistakes and his actions? Is a physician made of some kind of superior clay that he does not have to pay the penalty of his errors, the same as the rest of mankind?

Even the doctors themselves should welcome some change in the medical laws which would tend to relieve them individually of the tremendous responsibility of a human life. In Europe they have already begun to take note of this matter, for in some of its larger cities no major surgical operation is allowable until a public commission has passed on the exigencies of the case.

Should this principle not also be the basis of a radical reform in the matter of writing death certificates? Are not the doctors prominent enough in the criminal news of the day to warrant such a course?

Everybody knows of some medical crime that has never been probed in which prominent practitioners stand in a very unenviable light. This field has never yet been touched by the reformer of muck raker. That it will be some day goes without saying and lo, what a sensation it will create when the hospitals give up their secrets. O. S. CARR.

Still More Heroes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice in your paper that the real hero is one who supports a family on $15 per week. Should think that the grocer, the butcher and the landlord should come in for a share in that hero worship, as many of them are having to share the burden with the underpaid wage earner for what the monopolist and trust magnates fail to do, the grocer, butcher and house owners are having to do, as many of the underpaid are unable to meet their bills and the burden falls on others who are not responsible for conditions as they are. GROCER.

A Woman Worker's Experience.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Kindly allow me to voice the sentiments of "A Close Observer" and "Trying to Paddle My Own Canoe." About ten years ago I entered the army of women workers, as I wished to be prepared to fight life's battle in case I should be called upon to do so. I occupied a position as stenographer and bookkeeper, also did general office work, for $10 a week and held this position for four years. My employer then sold out and located in one of the largest Eastern cities. After several months he offered me the same position I held here with the new firm at $75 a month. I accepted this position and remained there a year, when I returned at the solicitation of my family and have since been at home keeping house for the reason that here women in offices are expected to do men's work at half pay. Not long ago a successful business man told me he would rather have a lady any time than a man for office work and that he was going to discharge three young men who were drawing jointly $75 a week and get a young woman to do the work of these three men and pay her $15 a week.

If I were obliged to earn my own living I would choose to live as a servant with some good family; there are few positions today in other occupations which will enable one to save for an independent old age. Why women are expected to do the same work for half a man's salary is beyond my understanding, especially in view of the fact that most of our young men squander their earnings. JUSTICE.

Contented With Bryan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

What a magnificent army of loyal Democrats who, with their exalted leader, have stood honestly for the principles of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, and what is more, that 6,000,000 will continue to stand loyal until the dawning of the morning when the party now in power and the so-called Democrats who are identified with the trusts and syndicates weighed in the balance and found wanting will realize the prophetic words of Abraham Lincoln: "You cannot fool all the people all the time." Were Lincoln alive today and seeing such distorted exhibitions in the Republican camp he would unite with the 6,000,0000 and lead in the procession, arm in arm with the Hon. W. J. Bryan, logical leader and uncrowned king of the Democratic party, who believe in equal rights to all and special privileges to none in this, "The People's Government."

STEPHEN TAYLOR DE KINS.

The Poor Man's "Luxuries."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your Feb. 18th issue you published a letter over the signature of "J.," wherein the writer advises the "cutting out" of intoxicants, luxuries and unnecessaries. What, in his opinion, do the unnecessaries consist of? According to a recent report of the Department of Commerce and Labor, the average wage of the American workingman is less than $500 a year. I receive a salary of $600 a year, $100 more than the average. My family consists of three persons. My expenditures for intoxicants does not exceed $1 a year. Instead of woolen clothing, my family must content itself with cotton, and not much of that. We haven't attended a theater or concert for over two years, much as we would like to. We haven't eaten a sirloin steak for so long that we are beginning to have grave doubts of there being such a thing in existence. In short, we are not living—we are just existing; and we are absolutely unable to save a cent for the inevitable rainy day. Under the circumstances I cannot understand how the millions whose salaries are even less than mine can manage to exist at all.

According to the philosophy of "J." the workingmen—the only real producers of wealth—should produce all the luxuries and content themselves with the barest necessities; produce mahogany furniture, and be satisfied to use furniture of pine; produce silken and woolen garments and be content with calico and shoddy; produce porterhouse and sirloin steak, and content themselves with an occasional soupbone; build palaces and live in shacks. Such a philosophy may have been but is no longer acceptable to the workers. They want to enjoy some of the wealth they themselves create. And who has a better right? M. H.

WHAT MAKES THE GARDEN GROW?

GETTING OUT OF A BAD SCRAPE.

From the New York Times.

Inextinguishable laughter will greet the President's belated discovery that a forgotten law of 1882 prevents the exhibition of the corporation tax returns as "public records, and open to inspection as such," because Congress neglected to appropriate the $50,000 necessary for the purpose. Never, we imagine, was an old law more opportunately fished up, to be so eagerly welcomed by a hard-pressed administration.

Still, the President's position is not one for unmixed self-gratification. He gets out of a bad scrape, and that is something, but this is his law. He proposed it, his influence carried it through, and there is a very general impression that the administration had a hand in drawing it up. The defect now discovered is chargeable, therefore, against Mr. Taft and his Attorney-General. What will the Republicans of the West say to that—they who are thirsting for the last drop of corporation blood, those Republican voters whom the President is straining every nerve to please, whom he finds it absolutely necessary to please because of their condemnation of his apologetic attitude toward the tariff law, which they detest?

COMMENDATION FOR NELLIS.

From the Springfield Republican.

They have a new Sheriff in the mob-ridden city of Cairo, Ill., and the mob has been finding this out to its cost. Sheriff Nellis is clearly the right man in the right place at the right time. There was nothing for him to do under the circumstances but shoot, and shoot to kill, when it became apparent that the mob could not be stopped otherwise; and if that part of Illinois has not gone clear over to anarchy, a mighty force of public sentiment and support will rally around this Sheriff as a stimulating example to other sheriffs and to the end that if there is any more work of the kind needed to be done, it will be done.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

From the Chicago Journal.

High prices are like epidemics—their bad effects are out of all proportion to the original cause. Tariff greed explains the rapid advance in most commodities, stockings, cotton goods and gloves, for instance. A return to normal prices means, first of all, a return to sane, economical government under a tariff for the people instead of for trusts. The Lodge-Aldrich whitewash brush can not exonerate the Aldrich-Taft tariff from responsibility for high prices. The American people understand the cause and suffer from the effect.

OUR GROWING DEBT TO EUROPE.

From the New York World.

Another month's foreign trade continues to be disturbing. For the first time 12 months' imports have now passed $1,500,000,000. Our exports are well below those of 1906 and 1907. The balance of merchandise is but $209,000,000, against $558,000,000 in 1907, $476,000,000 in 1906 and $486,000,000 in 1905. Even with heavy exports of gold we fell $300,000,000 behind our estimated exchange requirements. That measures our fresh debt to Europe.

OUR EX-PRESIDENT'S WAY.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Lest we forget, a quiet, unostentatious, self-effacing, publicity-shunning, shrinkingly modest, unknown, unphotographed, unsmiling, noise-hating, reticent, secretive lion hunter contemplates approaching these shores clandestinely and surreptitiously slipping unnoticed through the crowd at the pier, to seek the solace of solitude and indulge in pious, patriotic meditation.

JUST A MINUTE.

NEXT FALL.

"Now, my friends," he said, "I want to tell you what happened over at Cairo, Ill., within six months after the Payne tariff bill became a law. They tried to lynch a man over there for snatching a purse! (Laughter.) Think of it, friends! Money got so scarce in this country that purse-snatching became a serious offense like murder. (Laughter.) Now, friends, we have had some pretty hard times in this republic, but it remained for the Payne tariff law, passed by a Republican Congress and signed by a Republican President, to make everybody so hard up that we had to set the terrible example of lynch law for people who snatch purses containing, say, from 30 to 85 cents! (Laughter.)

Now, friends, the Democratic party may not have the best revenue plan possible, but it can beat that. (Laughter.) You will remember that in the darkest days of the Wilson tariff a purse snatcher got only from one to three years. (Laughter.) Money was not so all-fired scarce that we had to call out the militia every time they caught a pickpocket or a grabber of some housewife's change. (Laughter.)

"Now, my friends, I want to make a prediction. I am not a prophet, but I venture to say that if the Democratic party takes the whip-hand at Washington March, 1912, purse-snatching will not only cease to be a capital crime in this country the following winter, but if there is anybody so hard up that he feels like snatching the cost of a meal or the price of a bed, any of us will be only too glad to give it to him out of our abundance." (Prolonged cheers.)

Logan offered a dollar on the account, but this did not satisfy Ballowe and he shot Logan in the leg. Logan's wife in the meantime ran over to a neighbor's and borrowed the money and Mr. Ballowe received his full pay.—Marshall (Mo.) Republican.

Replying to the allegation of an Illinois railroad that the 2-cent law is confiscatory, the Attorney-General insists that the receipts on the road per passenger per mile have been practically the same under the 2-cent law as they were when the rate was 3 cents. These may be among the reasons why the two dead languages are taught in high schools. An education merely to enable a man to gather dollars, whether he needs them or not, is considered by many as rather absurd. The highest culture calls for Greek and Latin.

This, it is said, is an excellent remedy, and will cure cold on the chest. If the syrup is too thick use less flaxseed. How to Be Happy

Contentment Is the Real Secret, Set Forth for the Post-Dispatch

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

SOME people are never satisfied and they are losers.

We only come this way once. To be satisfied is the most desirable thing in the world. And it is quite a matter of one's own making.

Happiness consists in enjoying what you have. Money does not always bring joy. Very often the actual business of saving and making ends meet happily gives more real pleasure than the spending of exorbitant sums. The woman who becomes the business partner of her husband, as well as the life partner, and enjoys the work thereof, reaps the harvest of joy for herself and those who live with her.

Be your own business woman. Real economy is not only a saving grace, but to save gracefully and enjoy it brings contentment. For verily "to him that hath shall be given," and "everything comes to him who waits," provided he works while he waits. Peace is a matter of your own making and in itself constitutes Plenty. You can get it out of your daily work. Get it. Look forward, but cultivate contentment in the meantime.

Take the girl with the "green eyes." We meet her every day. She is ever a copyist. Nothing of her own ever appeals to her, but the dress, the jewel, the hat belonging to another is shining, alluring and attractive. To gain possession of these things she will go to extremes, and what is the result?

We immediately know her. She does not deceive us, but bears the trade-mark, "Imitation," "Want-to-be-and-Can't," all over her empire self. Tawdry and assuming, she wants to impress us with something she is not, and fails.

How much more to be admired is the sweet little girl who "takes the goods the gods provide," and makes the most of them! How dainty she looks in her plain, modish little costumes that are bought with care and discrimination and quite within her means.

A bit of velvet or ribbon are as modish on her hat as the flowing willow plume. She is rich indeed, for she smiles and is happy. And it is these quiet, unobtrusive creatures that actually win out. And it is not the outward semblance of things that accomplishes it, either. For "errors, like straws, upon the surface flow; he who would search for pearls must dive below."

Imitation is dross. Seek to be yourself. Cease to hunger for what is not intended for you. You will never be appeased.

Then there is the woman who would be happy from a monetary point of view, but is never at peace and is always dissatisfied. What matter if she has two automobiles if Mrs. Butterfly across the street has three? She must fly a bit higher. An airship for her! Or even to the Lady Moon, could she but reach her. If the dearest friend (?) has American beauties at her bridge party, nothing but orchids for her own show. And so, even in the ultra-rich strata of existence, the woman with the "green" eyes froths and foams.

What is the result? It only brings unnecessary heart pangs, miserable unsatisfied longings, and makes of the should-be-womanly being a creature of fancies, moods and caprices, a woman unhappy, a poor companion, a snappy wife and a scolding mother.

This is a beautiful world as well as a sordid one. There is no room for the green-eyed monster with such simple happy things in life, enough for all. Find them! They are within your reach. Reach out!

IN THE HOMES OF THE RICH

Why Society Women Should Not Be Classed as Drones.

By MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT.

There is a popular belief that women who occupy high positions in the social world have unlimited leisure and few responsibilities. There could not be a greater misconception. On women of this class rest innumerable obligations which, if rightly met, leave neither leisure nor rest.

Executive ability of a high character is necessary for the management of a large household with its army of servants, many departments, and endless details, says Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont in Harper's Bazar. Equally essential is financial ability for the administration of the great expenses.

At the beginning is a demand for careful attention to the young children, which cannot be fully met by nurses, no matter how highly trained. Later comes the supervision of the home schoolroom, from which the mother cannot be wholly relieved by tutors and governesses.

Always she must be held accountable for the health of the family and the proper care when illness comes.

To all these obligations must be added the heavy responsibilities of social life, far more exacting than is generally understood. To meet successfully its demands requires diplomacy of the most skillful nature, tact, wisdom, and endless hours of thought.

No society woman with any claim to leadership can justly be called idle or frivolous. Her work is hard, tedious, and must be well done.

The fulfillment of social obligations by no means represents the whole of the duties of a society woman's existence. There is no end to the demands of church work, charities, reforms and every kind of philanthropy. Practically each woman has one or more special objects with their call for board meetings and personal investigation and service.

With modern life has come the new demand for ceaseless intellectual culture through lectures on art, music, science and literature. In recent years this has been supplemented by the desire to keep abreast of current events, to understand the problems of the day, and this is attained through constant attendance on classes and their study and consideration.

To the culture of the mind is added in these progressive days the dramatic development of the body—woman entering the field of sports as an ambitious competitor of man in what has heretofore been his own exclusive domain.

JAP SUPERSTITIONS.

"Superstition still prevails to a considerable extent among the upper classes," says the Japan Mail. "During the Russo-Japanese war many high-rank officers had Kwannon (the Goddess of Mercy) images concealed in their breasts. Admiral Togo was one of these. General Kodama worshiped every morning. Baron Iwasaki has in his house a shrine erected in honor of Inari Sama, which is known among his household as Gobyo. Mr. Mitsui Takayasu is always troubling himself about lucky and unlucky directions in which to go. That quarter is pronounced to be unlucky and this quarter dangerous, so that it is hard for him to know where to go.

"Mr. Nankano Buei has his house full of amulets and looks for constant help from the Aramori Inari Sama. Mr. Okura Kihachiro believes that unpleasant sounds invariably forebode ill luck and undertakes few things without having the Gehe borne along with him. Then there is Mr. Kuroda Chokei, who is a devoted adherent to the Enrikyo. When his son was ill a little time ago, he used himself to go to the Enrikyo temple to receive water for him to drink.

"And among the followers of the Aunbaraba priests (yoso) there may be named Marquis Iwakura, Count Hayashi, Mayor-General Nagaoka and a number of wealthy business men. That there should be so much superstition in the minds of our upper classes is a subject for deep regret."

What to Eat and Why

By ELEANOR M. GREENWAY.

THE DANGER OF FRIED FOODS.

WHILE Americans have been spoken of as a race of dyspeptics, it has been suggested that one of the mottoes our country should adopt is "Abolish the frying pan!" For of all dietetic abominations for which bad cooking is responsible, food soaked in fat is the very worst.

Steak fried (or otherwise cooked in fat), fried eggs, griddle cakes, doughnuts and all similar combinations of melted fat are difficult of digestion.

None but the strongest stomach can thrive on a long continued diet of such things. Many people lay the foundation of a wretched middle age by being thus fed.

The gastric juice, as we have learned, has little or no effect upon fats; no more effect, it is said, than water. If we remember what was written about digestion, we remember that fats are digested, not in the stomach, but in the large intestine.

With this fact in mind, we can see that food soaked with fat is almost as completely protected from the legitimate action of the gastric juices as a foot in a well-oiled shoe is protected from the snow.

The same reason explains why rich fried cakes, shortened pastry and fresh bread and batter disagree with weak digestions and are the cause of much misery.

Not only does the interfering with the digestion of the food by its covering of fat set up fermentation, but the chemical changes occasioned by the fat itself develop irritating acids and gases which distress the stomach for a long time after eating.

To gain an idea of how we impose upon nature, consider the fact that a raw egg when eaten will digest in an hour, while a fried one takes four hours of hard work on the part of our internal machinery to reach digestion.

Thus do we overwork our best friend, the stomach!

AN EARLY EXCUSE.

Adam had his lazy spells. He would go down to the brook and lie on the mossy bank for hours.

"See here," said Eve with considerable emphasis, "do you know that we haven't a thing in the house to eat?"

Adam furtively yawned.

"Blame it on the high cost of living," he drawled, and sauntered away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

METEMPSYCHOSIS.

A chicken lived, a chicken died;
Its drumstick and its wing were fried,
Its feathers by a dealer dried,
And, very shortly after, dyed.

Soul, it had none; admitting that,
How comes it? There, upon her hat,
Its plumes—a mortal chicken's—rise,
A glorious bird of paradise.

WRITES TO "EDGAR ALLEN POE" TO ESTABLISH RELATIONSHIP

Missouri Woman Under Impression Poet Still Is Among the Living.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The remarkable tenacity with which Missourians cling to the "Show me," is exemplified in a letter from Mrs. Emma Poe Allen of Missouri City, Mo., addressed to "Mr. Edgar Allan Poe, New York University," which fell into the hands of Chancellor Percy M. McCracken of the university today. The letter reads, in part:

"Having seen a little sketch concerning your future welfare, I felt a little interested in the name myself, because that was my name heretofore, and I often have heard of you, and have been wondering if we were related. My father is from old Kentucky—name Anderson Poe—and two brothers, also. If you should happen to receive this, I would be glad to hear from you."

The letter probably was prompted by the discussion recently revived in regard to permitting Poe's name to be engraved in the Hall of Fame.

BUSCH GIVES A HAPPINESS FUND OF $75,000 A YEAR

It Will Include a Pension Appropriation for Employes Over 65.

DEATH BENEFIT ALSO

"To provide for the welfare and happiness" of his 6000 employes, Adolphus Busch, through his agents, will establish in March an endowment to be known as the Anheuser-Busch Employes' Distribution Funds, which will entail an outlay of $75,000 annually. The expense of the innovation will be defrayed by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association.

The plans, as formulated by Adolphus Busch before his departure for Pasadena, Cal., were announced by E. A. Faust, second vice-president of the corporation, at the monthly meeting of the Anheuser-Busch Employes' Relief Association Wednesday night at Moench's Hall, Seventh and Arsenal streets. He was accompanied to the meeting by Adolphus Busch III, son of August and grandson of Adolphus Busch.

The fund is to be divided into six departments. The first is a pension fund for all employes, then a fund for widows and orphans of workmen, a sick benefit endowment, to be administered by the Relief Association, which has been in existence several years; a fund for bravery medals and awards, for workmen only; an entertainment fund, for workmen; the annual picnic fund, for all employes; and the Christmas presents fund, for office employes only.

In Hands of Seven Men.

The administration of the funds will be in the hands of seven men, who will constitute the Board of Directors. The president of the corporation, and in his absence the first or second vice-president, will be chairman. Three of the directors will be selected by the workingmen and three by the company. They will serve without compensation.

Monthly pensions will be awarded to employes who have reached the age of 65 and who have been in the employment of the association for 10 years. About sixty employes will immediately qualify for pensions.

Widows of workingmen employed by the company for five years before death will receive $200. If the workman leaves only children, the same sum will be paid for them to their guardians.

A gold medal and $100 and a silver medal and $50 are the first and second prizes established for the two workmen who perform the most meritorious acts during each year. Prizes for bowling have been inaugurated as follows: First, silver cup and $100 in gold; second, $50; third, $30, and fourth, $20. A silver cup the cash prizes will reward the victors in the baseball league. The singing clubs will receive prizes of $100, $50 and $25.

The directors will appropriate $500 for the employes' annual picnic and $500 for various prizes for the picnic. It will vote another appropriation for the Christmas entertainment, at which most of the prizes will be awarded. Christmas presents of gold coin will be awarded to the office force.

PHARMACY FIRMS CONSOLIDATE

Long Lease Taken on Store at Cottage and Taylor Avenues.

Loewenstein Bros. effected a long-term lease of the store at the southwest corner of Taylor and Cottage avenues on a basis of $900 a year and also the consolidation of the Crusius Pharmacy at that corner with the Taylor Avenue Pharmacy, which, until the merger, occupied the opposite, or northwest corner. The consideration was $16,000 and the consolidated pharmacy will occupy the new leased premises.

The northwest corner, which will be vacated, is part of the property which Loewenstein Bros. sold to John A. Gardner of Boston, Mass., some time ago, for $22,500. As an evidence of increased values in this immediate vicinity, on Taylor avenue, an offer of $85 a front foot was refused last week for a vacant lot on the west side of Taylor avenue, 150 feet from Cottage avenue. There is not a desirable store vacant on North Taylor avenue, between Easton and St. Louis avenues.

Loewenstein Bros. represented all interested parties in the lease and merger.

ETHEL BARRYMORE TOO ILL TO PLAY, THEATER CLOSED

Actress Has a Severe Attack of Laryngitis From a Severe Cold.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The Empire Theater was closed last night because of the serious illness of Miss Ethel Barrymore, who has been playing the leading part in "Mid-Channel." Miss Barrymore is suffering from a severe attack of laryngitis. It was rumored that she was threatened with pneumonia, but her physician, Dr. L. L. Danforth, said there is no danger of that.

"Miss Barrymore caught a severe cold Sunday," he said, "and on Monday she was very hoarse and coughed a great deal. She was advised by me not to go on and play, but she felt she must not disappoint the management and the audience, so she played. On Tuesday she was in even worse shape, but insisted upon playing the Washington's birthday matinee.

"Again I advised her not to play, but she insisted, and she actually went on and acted Tuesday night while her temperature was 103. I was not there, as I was ill myself, but a trained nurse was with her. When she finished the performance her voice completely left her.

"I was called to her home and found she had an acute case of laryngitis and was in a high fever. This morning she is better and her temperature has been reduced, but she has a hard, dry cough and, if she will take my advice, she will not appear again until she has completely recovered.

"I understand that the management has announced that the theater will be closed for two nights only, but I hardly think Miss Barrymore will be in shape to play so soon."

Miss Barrymore in private life is Mrs. Russell T. Colt Jr., and she is the mother of a fine 6-weeks-old baby.

John L. Sullivan

JOHN L. SULLIVAN'S STORY OF HIS LIFE

(Copyright, 1910, by John L. Sullivan.)

CHAPTER XL.

IN my concluding chapter I want to impress upon the boys and the young men of this country the importance of doing something. The boy who sets his aim at a life of detail will never amount to much. He will be a good, handy man to have around, but you will never see his name in the papers. The principal idea in life is to create something. To improve on what others have done is all right, but the main idea is to go out and do something yourself. Do something different from what the other fellows have done. Dig up something new.

Some years ago a young fellow came to my training camp on Long Island to make some drawings of me and to write a story of how I trained. I tried to help him all I could, but all the time I was talking to him I could see that he had something in his mind that was his own. He was different from all the artists that I had seen. He talked to me about things that I had never thought of before. The next day I picked up the paper and I saw that his drawings were entirely different from what I had suggested to him. They were much better.

"Say, Phil," I said to Casey, my trainer, "this young fellow is going to be somebody. You mark my words. He has his own way of thinking."

Do you know who that young fellow was? Well, I'll tell you. He was Frederick Remington, the famous artist, who died a short while ago. He was then just about 24 years old, and he was starting out in life with an object in view. Look what he did! The editor who sent him out to see me that day never imagined that some day Remington's pictures would be selling for thousands of dollars.

Fighter His Own Manager.

I have often heard it said that the managers are responsible for the success of certain fighters. That is all bosh. They can help a lot by attending to the details, but it is the fighter who makes the name for himself.

Parson Davies made a crack some time ago that all he ever got out of me as manager was a few gray hairs and some bad experiences. That was not true. I have had more managers than any of them. Every hair on my head is gray, and I got that way trying to manage managers. I had some tough times trying to make them behave, notwithstanding the fact that the world in general always thought that I was the bad actor.

One manager, after we had been together for a short time, laid out a set of rules for me to follow, and as near as I can remember they were something like this:

I was to stop drinking, go to bed by midnight, put my money in the bank, stop going about in public so that my friends would pay to get in to see me and some more like that. Well, that manager stayed so short a time that I've forgotten his name. Every man that ever managed me got away with a good day's pay for what he did. Whatever they may say against me they can never say that I was not a great lad for pulling money into the gate. Some of the managers with the experience and money they got from me were able to get in the game so that they have stuck to it ever since. They haven't lost much.

It is a one best bet that every manager of a fighter thinks that he wins most of the battles and all the purses, but it is a fact that the "pugs" make the managers.

William Brady is a big theatrical manager today, and I have no doubt that he cons himself into believing that he made James J. Corbett champion. Perhaps he would never have got a hearing as a manager if he hadn't been lucky enough to hitch up with the pompadour boy from California.

How About Dixon?

TOM O'ROURKE was a stair builder before he got hold of George Dixon. Tom cut the profits in half with Dixon, and that's the way the money went. I'll gamble that O'Rourke can put up quite an argument to show that he made Dixon a great success and caused him to pile up money for a dozen years. Of course Dixon has no come-back, because he is dead. But anyone can figure out that Dixon would have got along almost as well, and would have done just as much fighting if he had never seen O'Rourke. O'Rourke may think he built the stairs for Dixon to climb up to the championship, but if he did who was it that built the toboggan the little fellow hit so hard and swift at the wind-up?

Good fighters are good in spite of managers. It is the vaudeville fighters who need managers to put up jobs on the public for show purposes.

As I said before, it is the person who does something out of the ordinary that succeeds. If a boy can deliver the goods that will make [illegible] talked about [illegible] will have no trou[illegible] in getting a [illegible]ager. There are a lot of nice fel[illegible] he can get to look after the de[illegible] But if a fellow is not a good [illegible] there will be no manager hang[illegible]und waiting for a chance to show [illegible] way to success. Managers grab [illegible]esses. The successes do not grab managers.

[illegible]ow about to the end of my [illegible]am touring the country with [illegible]ain as a sparring partner. [illegible] I go I am met by big [illegible] is a great consolation and [illegible] now that despite my wild [illegible]ple still have faith in me [illegible]heir money to come and [illegible] past 30 years. My hair is white and my weight is around 300 pounds. I take the most excellent care of myself. I never use intoxicants in any form whatever. I spend the greater part of my time in my room. When I am not busy writing letters I take a deck of cards and amuse myself for hours with solitaire.

My only "vice" is tobacco. I enjoy a big pipe filled with cut plug. Kilrain often comes into my room and we sit down and smoke together and talk of the old days when we battled so hard on the turf at Richburg, Miss. We box six rounds a day and that keeps us in good condition. Jake is now a grandfather. His daughter married a prominent physician in Boston, and he has two little grandchildren that are very interesting.

Advises Marriage.

IT IS my advice to young men to get married and settle down. They may think themselves held down and imposed upon because they can't get out at nights, but when they pass the age of 40 years they will long for the chance to get home to dinner, and then sit in some comfortable corner and think of what has been and what is to be. A wife busying around the place and a child to ask queer and interesting questions only adds to the comfort.

In this story I have tried to deal with my career in plain language. There may have been many things that I omitted. If I have said anything to offend I am sorry. It is not my intention to hurt the feelings of anyone and if I have done so I hope to be forgiven.

If the advice I have given here is of any benefit to the youth of America I will feel that I am amply repaid for the work I have put on this book. They have seen my side of it and if that experience has taught them a lesson it has been well worth while.

A friend has already sprung a joke on me in advance. He says it would not be strange for some purchaser to ask his dealer for a "scrap-book" and be given the "Life of John L. Sullivan" by mistake.

(THE END.)

COMMISSION TAKES UP CASE OF JOHNNY KLING

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 24.—The National Baseball Commission met here today to consider the case of Catcher John Kling of the Chicago National League club, who recently applied for reinstatement.

The Kling case has been widely discussed in baseball circles and all members of the commission were present to review his application.

Kling had a three-year contract with Chicago, but last spring declined to report, and remained away from the club all season. He did not go to an outlaw league and the only complication in his case was that he organized a semi-professional club which took part in a few games with a semi-pro team in Chicago.

Before the meeting of the commission it was practically certain that Kling would be reinstated and conditions imposed would not be severe. All the precedents were in favor of him.

KEENE COUNTS ON MASKETTE IN BIG RACE

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—As anticipated, there have been very few declarations from the two spring handicaps—the Brooklyn and Suburban.

James R. Keene has declared out Ballot, Helmet, Affliction and Suech from the Brooklyn and Helmet and Grasmere from the Suburban. This leaves Mr. Keene's representatives in the Gravesend fixtures to be Maskette, 123 pounds; Hilarious, 122, and Grasmere, 100.

Mr. Keene's representatives in the Suburban will be Ballot, 129; Maskette, 123; Hilarious, 122; Affliction, 106, and Sweep, 106.

Other declarations from the Brooklyn are Woolwinder and Boggs; from the Suburban, Boggs, The Fad and Topland.

MURPHY SAYS BROWN IS BEST PAID PITCHER

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Mordecai Brown, the three-fingered pitcher, who signed a two-years' contract with the Cubs Wednesday is the highest salaried pitcher in baseball, according to Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago club. While figures were not made public, Murphy said that Brown's compensation exceeds that of Christy Mathewson of the New York Nationals.

Aside from the salary clause, there is a bonus provision, calling for an extra stipend in event Brown wins 35 games.

St. Paul Bowling Scores.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 24.—A new high score was made in the individual event at the International Bowling Tournament Wednesday night, when A. Johnson of Minneapolis rolled 618, topping the mark set by John Miller of St. Paul last week by 12 pins. Several other good scores were rolled in this event, C. A. Cole of Minneapolis getting 602, A. L. Enderlin of St. Paul, 600; R. W. Withy of St. Paul, 590, and E. W. Russel of St. Paul, 587.

The best score in the doubles was made by Barnes and Carter of Minneapolis, who rolled 1154.

Draw in Windsor Fight.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 24.—Eddie Nelson of Grand Rapids and Curley Gerhardt of Detroit fought eight fast rounds to a draw at Windsor last night. Nelson once knocked out Ad Wolgast, the only man who has performed that feat.

Only Man to Knock Out Ad Wolgast Tells of the Bout

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 24.

"I AM the only boy who ever knocked Ad Wolgast out," said Eddie Nelson today. "It was in Grand Rapids in 1906. Wolgast and I fought in one of the preliminaries to a fight between Harry Lewis and Benny Yanger in Powers' Theater.

Wolgast had been in a few fights up around Cadillac, but he had never been in a real battle, I believe. At that time he didn't have much except a straight left. He went away, all the time, instead of boring in as he does now, I'm told. I carried the milling to him and had the better of the battle all the way, although he fought gamely and took a lot of punishment.

"I finally knocked him out with a left to the stomach and a right to the jaw in the third round. We fought again some months later and he got a decision over me, although I should have had a draw."

JEFF NEARLY CAUSES A RUN ON A BANK

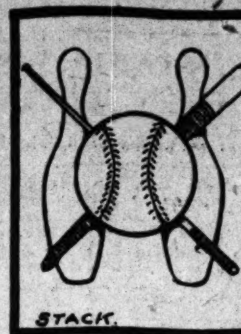
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 24.—Jim Jeffries nearly caused a run on one of the biggest banks here when he entered to have a check cashed. Crowds saw Jeffries, and, eager to get a better view of the big fellow, lined up in front to see him come out. The crowd increased, the traffic was blocked, and depositors of the bank, thinking a run was in progress, joined the throng.

When Jeffries came out he was compelled to all but fight his way through, and, retreating to his cafe, locked himself in his private office. His fellow-townsmen have made Jeffries a popular idol, and he hardly dares show himself on the street, as his appearance is a signal for hundreds to make a rush to get a close look at him.

JIMMY WALSH BARRED FROM PITTSBUHG RING

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 24.—Jimmy Walsh, the bantamweight fighter from Boston, has been placed on the black list, and will never be permitted to box in this city so long as Director John Morin is at the head of the police department. This statement was officially made today, and is the result of Tuesday night's fiasco, when Walsh was scheduled to fight Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland in the main bout at the Eighteenth Regiment Armory.

A large crowd which had paid $2 and $3 for seats, were only permitted three very fishy preliminaries, and then were turned out in the cold without getting their money back. Walsh, it is stated, notified the management that he must have the guarantee or he would not go on.



WRAY'S COLUMN.

CATCHER KLING'S case comes up at Cincinnati Thursday. The hearing will not be completed until Friday, and probably the decision will be reserved a day or two then. But it can almost be written in advance: Whitewash and fine for J. Kling.

Ban Johnson is the only member of the commission with the courage to vote against the reinstatement of Kling, in the face of the fact that his blacklisting will mean the permanent loss to the game of this great backstop.

Kling should not object to the $1000 plaster that will doubtless be his portion. In any case, the club owner lucky enough to get him will be glad to slip over the amount, or refund it to him.

But that dear commission will hardly be able to lift its head and look at its own rule book squarely. It is very hard fortune, indeed, that, in the matter of the very first important case to come under the failure-to-report article, this "Owgoost" baseball body should have to eat its own words.

But apparently it will surely have to do this act of verbal mastication.

Good-By, Old Timer!

THE release of Willie Keeler by the New York Highlanders sees the passing of another of those baseball Titans who for years kept place in the public eye by their conscientious as well as brilliant work. Keeler, for 17 years, has been before the baseball public and always as a star. Although handicapped by nature with an almost puny physique, he kept his head up at the top of the batting list with the sluggers of the world—the Burketts, Lajoies and the rest. With Burkett, Keeler enjoyed the reputation of having injected headwork into his bat work, above all other sluggers of history. Willie's famous "chop" he could place in almost any spot and fielders were almost at a loss to find in him any set weakness for which to play. A great fielder and base runner, too, was Willie, and in all a fine, honorable fellow and a credit to the game. Keeler will probably get a berth as manager of some club, but even failing that the wolf will have no chance to scratch beneath his threshold. Keeler has plenty of pemmican in safe deposit.

Breeding Still Profitable.

AND they say racing is declining? One would hardly think so after reading the report that Phil Chinn turned down an offer of $15,000, made by Tom Shaw, for the thoroughbreds Jack Parker, Sue, Guy Fisher and Dixie Knight. Strange as it may seem, the price of racing animals has declined but little since the attacks on the game. The depression that followed the closing of the betting at tracks in the East has entirely disappeared. Barney Schreiber states that he disposes of as many young racers as usual, and for good prices.

The explanation lies in the fact that many breeders have quit the business, and the production has, therefore, fallen off, while the racing game has really gained a point or two since the first severe blow fell.

Who Owns the Broadway A. C.?

IN all the hurrah connected with the dethronement of Battling Nelson, the naming of the battle-ground for the Jeffries-Johnson affair did not attract the notice the importance of the event warranted. The Broadway Athletic Club of San Francisco, which is to handle the fight, has figured but little in the annals of big battles, and a curious side of the case presents itself. The club is in control of Sam Fitzpatrick, who formerly managed Jack Johnson in the days when he was scrambling to get the negro a few unimportant matches, and who was turned down by the colored man in the latter's day of affluence. Gleason has no interest in the organization, but it's virtually a certainty that both Rickard and Gleason have a hand in the pudding when it is divided.

Or will there be any plum, after the $101,000 purse, and $25,000 additional expenses incident to running the fight are paid?

Bat's Wonderful Courage.

NELSON is certainly either insensible to punishment or the most courageous man that ever stepped into a ring. The day after the fight a San Francisco paper printed the following description of the former champion:

"Nelson is a frightful-looking object today. His face is battered out of shape. One cheek is twice the size of the other. One ear is a mass of raw flesh. His face is black and blue all over. His lips are swollen and split and his eyes are almost closed. He is the worst disfigured fighter that ever came out of a ring here."

That's the sort of fight that makes one forget, for a time, that football is the most punishing game in the business, and think, perhaps, after all, there is some ground for prejudice against the boxing game.

Nevertheless, in a few days Nelson will have completely recovered from all his troubles, whereas football's damages put players out of commission for months, sometimes for good.

Word From Hot Springs Says

RUBE IS TAKING OFF WEIGHT

Big Southpaw With Powell Is Climbing the Hills at the Training Resort.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

THAT Rube Waddell's intentions are of the best is shown from the contents of a letter received from Pitcher Harry Howell, who, with the big Southpaw and several members of the Browns, is doing early training at Hot Springs. Harry writes that Waddell and Powell are working harder than any players down there and that they will be ready to play ball when the club reaches Houston next week.

"We all get out every day and do light work on the Pittsburg training grounds," says Harry. "After an hour of tossing the ball and playing a little bunting game, most of us jog back to the hotel for the baths, but Big Rube and Powell take to the mountains and we don't see them until just before supper time. They climb those hills for two hours every day and it is taking off the extra weight. Rube is the most enthusiastic worker of them all and says he's going to pitch as well as ever this year. Powell ought to be in great shape this year, for he is within eight pounds now of his playing weight and looks fine.

"There are a lot of ballplayers here from other clubs. Besides Powell, Waddell and myself, Hetling and Gilligan of the Browns are also here. Joss is here from the Cleveland club. Others are: Jim Delehanty of Detroit, Clark

Griffith, McLean and Spade of Cincinnati; Schaefer and Conroy of Washington, Doyle of the Highlanders and Smith formerly of Washington.

"We all get up about 8 o'clock in the morning and walk for an hour, stopping at intervals to drink the hot water. At 9 o'clock we have breakfast and are idle the rest of the morning. After a light lunch, we dress in uniforms and go to the ball grounds for an hour or more of work.

"I worked my arm out slowly Monday, just lobbing the ball over. It was the first throwing I had done, and no pain followed. Of course I didn't put any speed on the ball at all and didn't keep the work up very long, but the fact there was no soreness at all the next day, makes me believe I'll be able to pitch the same as ever this year."

O'Connor Sees the Light.

ANY good news about the pitchers pleases Manager Jack O'Connor of the Browns most of all. He has worried about his pitching staff all through the winter. He hoped to procure another strong man, but has failed. He got Joe Lake early in the winter and of course the former New Yorker, with his "spit ball," will help much.

Now it seems Howell is going to be able to pitch again, though O'Connor has held but little hopes for him. Powell is making desperate efforts to be ready for some of the early games, and Big Rube Waddell has signified that his intentions are serious. If those three men get in shape to work, much of the trouble for O'Connor will be eradicated. He is sure Bailey, Graham and Pelty will be in trim, and he thinks, perhaps, there is a live one among the few recruits who will be tried out.

Wallace May Not Go South.

THERE'S no certainty that Bob Wallace will make the training trip with the Browns. O'Connor has written the little Scot that he may come or not, just as he pleases. Manager Jack says Wallace can come out of winter quarters, throw a half dozen balls across the diamond, take a couple of turns at the bat, and he's in shape. He never has a pound of extra weight, and never has a sore arm.

Hetling and Corridon will be worked at third base in the South. Hartzell is to be kept at shortstop all the time, and O'Connor thinks he'll be better than ever. Olson will be at second, and Abstein at first, completing what should be a fast infield.

ALLEY STRIKES AND SPARES

George Qualey and Al Jellison bowled an individual tournament match on the De Soto Pine alleys, Wednesday afternoon, and Qualey dropped six out of the 11 games. Neither man shot good tenpins. Jellison could not do better than average up about the 185 mark. It was the second time this season that Qualey had received the short end of the decision at the hands of Jellison. The men met on the Palace alleys, and Jellison who was "on" at that time, took Qualey's taw without difficulty.

The Royal Arcanum league teams bowled on the De Soto Vernon and De Soto Pine alleys Wednesday night. The league is the largest in the world, with its 36 clubs, and the members have yet to subside from telling that they hold out one record anyway. The results of the matches Wednesday follow: De Hodiamont, 2; Hickory, 1; Marquette, 3; Mentor, No. 1, 0; Benton, No. 2, 3; Hickory, No. 1, 0; Mora, No. 1, 2; Valley, No. 2, 1; Mora, No. 2, 2; Osage, 1, Elk, No. 1, 2; Old Guard, 1; Delmar, 2; North Broadway, 1; South Ends, 3; Victoria, 0; Compton Hill, No. 3, 2; Cabannes, 1; Compton Hill, No. 2, 3; Mentor, No. 2, 0; Missouri, 2; Chevalier, 1; Olivette, 3; Vandeventer, 0, Cote Brilliante, 2; Valley, No. 1, 1. Qualey shot nice tenpins for the Mentor No. 1 team, getting a total of 609 pins.

The St. Louis league teams got busy on the Grand alleys Wednesday night, but there was nothing doing in the way of high scores. The Marquettes annexed all three games in their tilt with the Marquette Hotels, and the Grand-Leaders dropped three games to the Alfelds. The Marquettes, with a total of 2611, had the most impressive total.

Three matches in the Rex individual tourney were bowled on the Rex alleys Wednesday. Charley Anthony dropped the odd game to Blelock. Blelock had previously been trimmed to the tune of 5-0 by Delaney. Schick took three out of five from Hayes. Hayes then shot a match with Arthur Rothwell and Rothwell took three out of five.

The Choctaws were in fine form in the Junior Cocked Hat Association matches on the Royal alleys Wednesday. The team averaged 51 4-25, which was good enough to shut the Pontiacs out without a victory in the five games bowled. Schmidt, with a high game of 70 and the timid windup of 47, was easily the star. He averaged 57 1-5. The Cherokees took three out of five from the Rialtos, and the Mohawks annexed the odd game in their tilt with the Comanches in the other matches.

TROLLEY LEAGUE'S NEWEST MEMBER MAY WIN FLAG

The Missouri-Illinois (new) Trolley League held its annual meeting and election of officers at the Planters Hotel Wednesday evening, W. Jordan of Belleville being elected president. Charley Hanaway was again chosen for the position of secretary and C. M. Heath was named as treasurer.

Moberly is the new member of the league that is expected to make a strong fight for the flag this season. Sebastian's Orphan Boys, winners of the pennant last year; the Bellevilles, Millers, Old Capitols and Rennans are the other teams that are to figure in the battle for the league championship.

Highlanders Release Two.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—President Farrell of the New York American League Club announced Wednesday that he had sold Pitcher Billiard to San Antonio of the Texas League, and had released Twirler McMahon and First Baseman Danzig to the Boston Americans.

Many Fighters After Champion; Nelson Matched

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.

THE Mission Club wants Wolgast to fight Freddy Welsh, the English champion. But the German lad, who fought Nelson for $4000, has grown more appreciative of his talents and wants $20,000 for a 45-round bout with the Briton. Negotiations are still pending. His manager, Jones, says that Wolgast won't fight for at least three months. He will go to Los Angeles on Saturday. Later he will appear on the stage.

That Nelson still is a good-sized fighting idol was demonstrated when Louis Blot signed him to fight "Cyclone" Thompson 45 rounds in April. Nelson will get $10,000 and $500 expenses for his share of the purse. Nelson got $12,000 for Tuesday's battle and royalties on the pictures.

LUTTBEG TO WRESTLE ATHOS; IS WAITING ON BAPTISTE

Max Luttbeg, champion lightweight wrestler, has been matched to meet "Athos," who claims the Greek championship, for a bout to take place at the Standard Theater Saturday night. The men are not evenly matched, as while Luttbeg is only a lightweight, Athos is a well-developed middleweight.

Luttbeg is at present in St. Louis trying to induce George Baptiste to take a chance on meeting him. Athos is expected from Cincinnati. Athos is well known all over the country as the man who "wrestles the bull." His favorite "stunt" is to meet a well-trained bull in a ring and, by taking hold of its horns, bend its neck gradually until the animal has to drop to the ground. Two years ago Athos came to St. Louis willing to meet all comers. The first Sunday that he opened up Charley Olsen happened to be in the house. When Athos offered to wrestle anybody in the house Olsen stepped up on the stage. Athos lasted before Olsen exactly one minute.

YOUNG PITCHER DEMANDS $10,000 FOR A THUMB

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Declaring that his career as a baseball pitcher has been cut short, Earl Proctor of Rockville Center has brought suit against a milling company of that place for $10,000 because his right thumb was severed by a buzz saw. Proctor, who is only 20 years old, was last year the star pitcher of a championship high school baseball team and believed that a notable career in professional baseball was before him.

SOCCER RIVALS BATTLE IN FINAL GAME SUNDAY

With the St. Leos running out in front so far that it will be almost impossible to stop Billy Klostermann's club from winning the pennant, the fifth and final round of the Athletic Park Soccer League season will be started Sunday.

The St. Leos and St. Theresas are billed for the second game and if they do not finish a fast contest it will be a surprise. The St. Teresas promised to give the St. Leos a hard fight for the flag early in the season, but were unable to make good. At one time the St. Teresas were announced as going to quit the league because of a row with the St. Leos. It will be the last game of the season between the two teams.

COMISKEY WILL HAVE 14,000 SEATS IN STAND

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—C. A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American League Ball Club, yesterday closed a contract for 14,000 seats, which will be installed in the grand stand of his new baseball plant on the South Side.

COLD WAVE AND SLEET MAR HOT SPRINGS WORKS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 24.—Spring training by the advance colony of major league ballplayers here now is postponed a full week. Yesterday, after a sudden cold wave, there was a fall of sleet. There are about fifty major leaguers in camp and others are arriving daily.

College Players Training.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—College baseball teams from institutions in and around New York have begun their annual spring training. Fordham, New York University and Columbia report large squads of candidates and excellent prospects for a successful season. Other colleges which are at work with their candidates indoors are St. Francis Xavier, City College, St. John's Brooklyn College and Brooklyn Polytechic Institute. The schedules of the various teams call for games with most of the big colleges and universities in the East. A larger number of home games will be seen by New York fans this year than heretofore.

Doctor Says Bat Nelson Is a "Sub-Normal" Man

Dull Nervous System Enables Dane to Take a Beating Without Experiencing a Severe Shock.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.

BATTLING NELSON can still say that he has never been knocked senseless in the ring. Wolgast beat him until he was unable to lift his hands, and couldn't even put him down. Through the whole 40 rounds Nelson stayed on his feet. Referee Eddie Smith stopped the fight merely because Nelson, hopelessly beaten, was being unnecessarily punished, but more because he feared that the Dane would be killed.

Nelson was so weak that his muscular resistance was all gone? When Wolgast landed on Nelson's jaw the Dane's head bobbed about like a punching bag on a string. He could not set the muscles of his neck to resist the blows. When a man is so far gone a knockdown is extremely dangerous, because in the fall his head strikes heavily against the floor.

Technically, of course, so far as all wagers are concerned, Wolgast wins with a knockout, as the referee is supposed to have stopped the bout only when it was impossible for the Dane to continue. If the police, instead of the referee, had stopped the fight, Wolgast would have won on the referee's decision.

About Nelson's Make-Up.

The world will wonder more than ever what kind of stuff this Battling Nelson is made of. The Battler has claimed for years that he could not be knocked senseless. Many doctors have tested and examined him and have said that he has a "subnormal organism." This means simply that Nelson's nerves are less sensitive than the nerves of the ordinary man and that they do not carry a shock to the brain in the normal way. A blow that would make any man with a highly developed and sensitive organism think the roof had fallen on him would hardly interest Nelson. At the worst it would be nothing more than a dull thud.

If the referee had not stepped in, Nelson, without a doubt, would have been sent to the floor before five rounds more had been fought, and would have been counted. But unless the violence of the finishing blow or of the fall actually killed him he would have been conscious while the count was going on. He would only have been too weak or too badly dazed to get to his feet again.

Nelson told me that only four blows received in his whole fighting career actually hurt him. The worst was a punch in the pit of the stomach given with Britt's left hand. That punch left Nelson unable to draw in a breath for several seconds and doubled over with pain. Another was a blow over the kidneys delivered by Joe Gans in their last fight. The Dane says the pain of that blow made him bend backward and for a moment he was unable to stand straight. He thought his side had been crushed in. The third was Young Corbett's punch that broke his ribs. The fourth was a blow flush on the nose delivered by Gans.

What Nelson Has Endured.

Look over Nelson's fights. Surely no other fighter ever received such punishment and lasted through it to fight along for years. From the first he was a punching bag. In time he did learn something about blocking. But his style of fighting was always of the trading kind. He was always willing to leave himself open for a blow if only he could land one too. Nelson needed to give a fifth of the punishment he received. That was enough. Men spent their strength trying to knock him out, and then he got them.

.:. BILLIARDS .:.

Vincent Botto and Abie Ellison are scheduled to meet in the deciding game of the Rex class A three-cushion tournament Wednesday evening. The men were to have played Tuesday night, but because of the fact that Botto was picked to represent St. Louis in the intercity series it was necessary to postpone the contest. Botto won the tournament last year and later met Tommy Carter in a "money" match on the result of which quite a sum changed hands. Ellison defeated Martin Maley Monday night in a game which gives him the "class" to be favorite to win the match from Botto. In winning from Maley Ellison averaged .65 and made a run of four and several other good runs.

Dr. Will O. Campbell again took W. H. Riley of Chicago into camp in a "money" match on the Grand alleys Wednesday. The day before Campbell defeated Riley, 50 to 25. The score Wednesday was 50 to 29. There was a large amount of money wagered on the result of the contest, but Campbell was in form and his opponent was left many lengths behind from the start.

Mueller and Levy are scheduled to meet in the "southpaw" pool tournament match at the Royal Thursday night. Land won from Spencer, 100 to 64, in Wednesday's match. Welle won from Barker, 75 to 63, in the class B event.

Merrill and Woodward will meet in the 18.2 amateur balk-line tournament match at Charley Peterson's hall Thursday. Merrill is at present leading, he not having lost a game up to date.

Jean Knott increased his batting average by defeating Brice Hoskins, 100 to 91, in the Newspaper Men's billiard tournament at Charley Peterson's Wednesday. Knott plays from the 50 mark while Hoskins is allowed to get away from the 75 mark. Knott and Kennamore are at present tied for the lead. Kennamore is scheduled for two games Thursday, Lloyd and Burke being the men booked to oppose him. Wray, scratch man of the tourney, is only a trifle behind the two leaders. He meets H. James Thursday. Kessler (35) 100; Cruisinberry (50) 99; Boylan (25) 100, Cruisinberry (50) 97; Ramsey (75) 100, Johnson (75) 99; Kessler (35) 100, Ramsey (35) 96; were the results of the other matches played Wednesday.

WERSTEIN WOULD ARRANGE MAT MATCH WITH CHRIST

John Werstein, the clever lightweight wrestler, who defeated Kid Kelso at the South Broadway Athletic Club recently, is on the trail of Mike Christ, eager to have him make good a challenge handed out at the S. B. A. C. last Sunday. Werstein says he is willing to wrestle Christ at 133 pounds for a side bet.

BASKET BALL

The four-team basket ball league formed for the purpose of raising funds to defray expenses of the Premieres during their trip to Cricago, stages two games at Louisiana Hall tonight, the Premieres and the Company E meeting in the final game, while the Pilgrims and the Grace Church men settle their argument in the initial contest of the evening. The advance sale of tickets has been exceptionally good.

Saturday girl fives will clash in a double-header for the Premieres' benefit at the Louisiana Hall.

The McKinley High School Girls five and the Yeatman High Girls meet again this afternoon at the Louisiana Hall in what should prove an interesting contest. They met some time ago and McKinley got away with the game by a 13-to-10 verdict.

Local followers of the intercollegiate game are awaiting impatiently for the Missouri U.-Washington games here next week. There is a fine chance for Cayou's midgets beating the Tigers.

S.S.S. BEST TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

There is no way to cure Catarrh except to purify the blood, and thus do away with the cause. The symptoms may be benefited by the use of washes, inhalations, sprays, medicated tobaccos, etc., and through the use of such treatment catarrh sufferers receive temporary relief and comfort. External and local measures however cannot have any effect on the blood, and therefore their use alone is of no real curative value. Catarrh is a deep-seated blood disease, and comes as the result of catarrhal matter and other impurities in the circulation. These morbid matters in the blood cause an inflammatory and irritated condition of the mucous membrane or tissue lining of the cavities of the body, producing an unhealthy secretion, ringing noises in the ears, stuffy feeling in the head and nose, headaches, hoarseness, bronchial affections, watery eyes, etc. S.S.S. is the best treatment for Catarrh because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. This medicine removes every particle of the catarrhal impurity from the circulation, making this vital fluid pure, fresh and healthy. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, because they are nourished with pure, health-giving blood, every symptom disappears, and soon S.S.S. produces a perfect cure. S.S.S. does not contain any habit-forming drugs, which really never can cure Catarrh, but often ruin the health. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

Do you want to go Back to the Farm? There comes a time in the life of even the city-bred when he longs for the stillness and sweetness of the wide spaces where things grow. In the urbanized country-bred this longing becomes a late life passion. How to get back to the farm and how to make it pay is told in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine.

Do you hate cats? Some persons throw a fit if a cat comes in the room. The reason for the strong aversion is an instinct transmitted from ancestors who learned to fear the prowess of cats when the ancestors of these domestic pets were the fiercest and most capable animal roaming the plains and forests. Big as cows and armed with a terrible weapon, of which cats have but a rudiment, these ancestors slew the giant sloth in spite of his armor. To be continued in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine.

Let us solve the cost of living problem. It is a great one, but not beyond the powers of intelligence. Why could we not co-operate, save on fuel, light, cooking, washing, have our own transportation system, etc., etc.? Wild? Utopian? Impracticable? Not at all. The scheme has been worked out so simply that you will agree that it is feasible when you read the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine.

If you wear plaids—as you will if you wear gingham dresses this summer—you should know what plaid you are wearing. Every one belongs to some Scotch clan, and the design has distinct heraldic significances. See the plaid fashions in the Sunday Post-Dispatch Home Section.

Would you save a couple from divorce? A couple has written to the Sunday Post-Dispatch, stating its differences and asking that judgment be rendered outside a court of justice. The readers of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Home Section are asked to sit in judgment upon this couple and administer justice.

Post-Dispatch's Complete Daily Record of Markets and Finance

STOCK MARKET VERY QUIET AT THE OPENING

Price Movements Slow and Generally Unimportant; London Is Quiet.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24, 12:30 p. m.—Thursday's forenoon session was the dullest one of the year. Trading was chiefly confined to scalping operations. Several issues had not opened by noon, and in others there were only a few transactions. The tendency of the market was higher, but the advances in almost all instances, were fractional.

Smelting and Steel common gained ¼ each, and Amalgamated ⅜. Consolidated Gas lost ⅜, and Steel preferred ¼ point. The other industrials were at parity.

In the rails section Erie advanced ⅛, Great Northern, Southern Pacific and Wabash preferred ¼ each, Baltimore & Ohio and Reading ⅜ each, St. Paul, Pennsylvania and Rock Island ½ each, Atchison and Canadian Pacific ⅝ each, New York Central and Union Pacific ¾ each and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 1⅜ points.

Chesapeake & Ohio and Northern Pacific were unchanged.

Laclede Gas, North American and Missouri Pacific did not open.

The extent of the trading may be gauged from the fact that the total sales to noon amounted to only 153,300 shares.

Price movements at the opening of the stock market today were irregular, and changes from the closing figures were generally unimportant.

Pronounced dullness featured the early trading. The leading issues, which are usually fairly active, were very quiet, several of them not having opened in the first 15 or 20 minutes.

Most of the industrial stocks were stagnant, American Telephone being the only one to show some activity.

Amalgamated Copper gained ⅛ and Steel preferred ⅜. Car and Foundry lost ¼ and Smelting and Steel common were at parity. Atchison, C. & O. and L. & N. advanced ⅛ each, B. & O., M., K. & T. and Southern Pacific ¼ each. B. R. T. and Wabash preferred declined ⅛ each, Great Northern and Reading ¼ each.

Rock Island was off ⅜. St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Union Pacific were unchanged.

The market as a whole was practically unchanged at the end of the first half hour. The indications pointed to lower prices. Steel common receded ¼ and Reading ⅝. American Telephone gained ¾ and then reacted to its opening.

There was no special news to influence prices. Americans in London were quiet and from ⅛ to ⅜ above parity.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Only a handful of orders was in the stock market for execution at the opening today. Prices moved a small fraction either way and then came to a standstill.

A somewhat firmer tone prevailed for a while after the opening but this was dispelled by concerted selling of Reading and other leaders, all of which sagged below yesterday's final prices. Reading lost a point and American Locomotive preferred 1½. The market steadied before 11 o'clock, but became duller at the recovery. Colorado & Southern advanced 2, Western Union 1⅜, and Pittsburg, C. C. & St. Louis and American Malting preferred 1.

Strength in the stocks of Southern railroads had only moderate effect on the general list. Louisville & Nashville rose 2½ and Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Railway preferred 2. National Lead preferred declined 1¾. Hocking Valley 1¼ and Denver & Rio Grande preferred and Western Maryland certificates 1. Bonds were irregular.

Special stocks made notable headway upward, but the general market did not vary much, although the tone grew better. Canadian Pacific and International Harvester gained 1½ and Atchison, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Amalgamated Copper and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 1. Minneapolis & St. Louis declined 2¼.

ST. LOUIS MONEY MARKET.

There is still plenty of money offering locally at 5 per cent, but the banks do not seem inclined to shade quotations to less than 4½ per cent. Deposits are holding up very well and the general tendency is to increase, owing to the receipts of currency from the interior. Collections are stated to have been very satisfactory recently.

HOGS—Only a small supply of hogs arrived and the market opened on a shade higher basis, but later was 5@10c lower and closed weak. The top of the market was up to $9.75 for the first time in the history of the yards, while the bulk of the good hogs sold from $9.35@9.60. Compared with other markets prices here were by far the highest, as the highest prices elsewhere in the West was $9.67½. Pigs and lights were slow sale most of the day, as buyers wanted the hogs with weight. Best lights, less than 160 pounds, sold from $9.25@9.50, best pigs, around 110 pounds, went at $9.15.

SHEEP—The sheep trade was on a steady, active basis and the small supply lasted but a few minutes. Offerings consisted of a load of lambs from Colorado that averaged 69 pounds and brought $9, and a few small lots of natives, none of which was very good. The market is on the highest basis ever known and buyers are very anxious for good fat sheep and lambs.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market was active from the start this morning and continued so throughout the day. Good fat horses for the Eastern trade were in strong demand and sold at good, strong prices. There were plenty of buyers in attendance throughout the day. Fresh receipts for the day were light, approximating 25 head. The mule market remained in very much the same condition as that of yesterday. Trade was fairly active, both out of first hands and with dealers. Fresh receipts for the day approximated 75 head.

WHOLESALE TRADE.

Washington avenue merchants are very well pleased with the opening up of spring trade. Practically all of the visiting buyers have taken a most roseate view of the coming six months, and, judged by the sales of the past few days, they have the courage of their convictions.

Prices are still somewhat higher than they were at this time last year, but nevertheless have fallen from the apogee of the past quarter.

Shall we Rejoice

Gladness comes with a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed and assisted by the pleasant laxative remedy Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

COTTON MARKET QUIET, BUT TONE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 9@19 points in response to relatively firm cables. There were many over night selling orders but these offerings were absorbed by the covering of recent sellers and while fluctuations after the call were narrow and somewhat irregular, the undertone seemed considerably steadier, owing to reports of a better European spot demand and rumors that the concentrated long interests in the local market had been pretty well liquidated.

Business was moderately active in the late forenoon, but after the close of Liverpool there was rather less demand and prices eased off a few points from the best under continued liquidation, with the market at midday ruling about 8 to 11 points net higher.

Liverpool close: Spot in limited demand; prices 4 points lower; American middling fair, 8¾d; good middling, 8.04d; middling, 7.88d; low middling, 7.78d; good ordinary, 7.52d; ordinary, 7.27d. The sales of the day were 7000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export, and included 6500 American. Receipts of 12,000 bales, including 4700 American. KANSAN GETS DIVORCE FROM WIFE WHO WOULD NOT PRAY

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 24.—A. F. Barker, aged 73, won a divorce from Mary Barker, aged 63, in the District Court because the wife would not join the husband in his devotions.

"For 45 years I have prayed and read the Bible after supper," Barker testified, "but as I prayed she would not bow her head. She told me she was a Christian when we were married, but the Sunday after she would not go to church, nor the Sunday following. After supper she would not kneel when I prayed. I said, 'Mary, kneel.' 'It hurts my knee,' she said.

"Then I asked her to bow her head, but she sat up stiff. She accused me of running after other women and of being neglectful of her, and she used to swear around the house. We had a little dog. He would not eat sometimes, and she would say, 'Well, then, go to ——.'"

WHEAT SUPPORTED AT HIGHER LEVELS

It became known Thursday morning that several of the influential longs in the local wheat market had liquidated large portions of their holdings during the previous session and the resulting reaction carried prices up to fractional advances. The market appeared rather oversold and although there was very little activity, dullness being in evidence most of the time, the virtual absence of offerings made the scattered demand effective in supporting values at firm levels.

Abnormally low temperatures still prevail in sections west of the Mississippi, many of which are unprotected by snow. Damage reports were again numerous and caused a nervous attitude among the shorts. Receipts were heavy. Stocks showed further increases and the congestion that recently prevailed has been practically broken up. The cash markets, however, reacted from the easiness that for some time had existed and ruled firm. This factor encouraged scattered general buying at the start.

The market opened slightly easier on the early foreign weakness and the indications of heavy Argentine shipments. A rally soon occurred, however, being facilitated by a recovery in Liverpool, where prices closed ¼ to ⅜d higher. There was a reduction in the flour output at Minneapolis, but the volume was still large and an increase is expected as soon as railroad facilities improve.

A nervous tone prevailed all morning. Prices scored moderate gains and up to noon fluctuated rather irregularly, but at consistently firm levels.

LAWYER'S MISTAKE SENDS CLIENT TO ELECTRIC CHAIR ON HIS SECOND TRIAL

Verdict on First Hearing Was Second Degree Murder and Counsel Asked for New Trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Edward F. McGrath, alias Webster, an ex-prize-fighter, was convicted of murder in the first degree and Judge Goff will sentence him Monday to be executed in the electric chair.

At a former trial the jury rendered a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, the punishment of which is life imprisonment. Lawyer Hibbard asked to have the verdict set aside and Judge Goff promptly granted the motion, much to the disgust of McGrath. Then McGrath retained Col. Robert J. Haire to defend him. It took the jury three hours to bring in a verdict of guilty.

Col. Haire moved for a new trial, but this time Judge Goff declined to grant the motion.

"LA FAVORITA" SUNG BY FRENCH OPERA COMPANY

A CREDITABLE performance of Donizetti's "La Favorita," was given by the French Grand Opera Company of New Orleans at the Garrick Theater last night. The audience seemed really enthusiastic over the offering, applauding with much fervor.

Mme. Fierens sang the role of Eleonore, and the house apparently thought she sang it very well, being especially emphatic in its commendation of her presentation of the "O, Mon Fernand" love song, in the third act, at the close of which the singer was made to feel that she had been found satisfying.

It was evident, too, that the audience's favor was won by the basso of the evening, M. Huberty, who was heard as the Prior Balhazar; by the baritone, M. Hensatto, as Don Alphonse, and by the tenor, M. Zocchi, as Fernand. All these singers received what seemed to be a sincere verdict of approval.

The minor roles were rather pleasingly sung, the chorus acquitted itself to the house's liking, and the work of the orchestra also seemed to be included in the audience's favorable verdict.

The ballet, led by Miles. Fabris, Hansens and Codolini, completed the evening's offering of French opera along established French lines.

"Lakme" will be sung tonight.

WIFE SUES AFTER HUSBAND CHARGES MUSICIAN WON HER

Mrs. Ethel Thilenius Monday filed suit in the Circuit Court for divorce from George E. Thilenius of 4565 Cook avenue, an insurance man, who several weeks ago stated that he was going to bring suit for $50,000 against a musician for alienation of his wife's affections. This statement by Thilenius that a musician had alienated her affections is urged as one ground for divorce by Mrs. Thilenius.

Before her marriage Mrs. Thilenius was Miss Ethel Mize, formerly of Butler, Mo., but according to Thilenius' statement worked as a stenographer in St. Louis during the World's Fair. Thilenius was attracted by her beauty and they were married on Christmas, 1904.

In her suit Mrs. Thilenius says that when she married him she believed Thilenius' statement that he could support her, but quickly found he had not. She said she had to seek employment the following July.

Mrs. Thilenius charges in her suit that her husband left her without money to pay her board Oct. 21 last and thus she was humiliated. She says he talked disrespectfully of her to persons residing with them in the same house, followed her, had her shadowed by detectives and made damaging statements against her.

Mrs. Thilenius is now living at 1125 North Grand avenue.

According to Thilenius, he is 28 years old and his wife is 22.

KINNEY'S NEGRO VALET RELEASED ON $1000 BOND

Supreme Court Lowers Bail Asked for Man Convicted of Election Fraud.

FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE

St. Louis Judge Had Demanded $5000 Appeal Bond Which Was Not Furnished.

Jimmy Robinson, negro valet of State Senator Tom Kinney, is out of the penitentiary, to which he was sent a few weeks ago to serve a five years' term for registration fraud. The circumstances of his release have caused surprise and some chagrin to the St. Louis prosecuting officials who, after a hard fight in the criminal courts, succeeded in convicting Robinson and three co-defendants in registration cases.

A $1000 appeal bond, signed by Tom Egan, whose saloon is headquarters for "Egan's Rats," was accepted by the State Supreme Court for Robinson's release after Judge Shields, in the criminal branch of the St. Louis Circuit Court, had demanded a $5000 bond.

It is the rule of the St. Louis Criminal Court, in appeal cases, to require bonds amounting to $1000 for every year of the appellant's sentence. As Robinson had been sentenced for five years, the amount of his appeal bond was fixed by Judge Shields at $5000. Not furnishing this bond, Robinson was sent to the penitentiary.

Egan Signs the Bond.

A few days ago "Fish" McAdams, member of the Legislature, and lid club proprietor, and T. J. Rowe Jr., attorney for Robinson, went to Jefferson City with Tom Egan, and appeared before the Supreme Court.

Application was made for a writ of habeas corpus to release Robinson, and the court, after hearing the application, fixed the bond at $1000. Egan signed the bond, and Robinson was released.

The City Assessor's records show that Egan could not have furnished $5000 bond. He appears on the assessor's books as having total realty holdings of $4460, comprising the lot and building at Broadway and Carr street where his saloon stands.

It is an unusual proceeding for the Supreme Court to lower an appeal bond fixed by a lower court, particularly when the lower court's requirement is for a bond of only normal amount. Only one instance of such action is recalled by court officials here, and in that case the bond accepted by the Supreme Court proved worthless, and the prisoner "skipped."

Gave Bond and Skipped.

Morris Brennan, convicted dynamiter, was sentenced for 10 years, failed to give a $10,000 appeal bond required by the court here, and was released by the Supreme Court on a $3500 appeal bond. The signer of the $3500 bond proved to be insolvent, and the State, following Brennan's disappearance, was unable to collect a cent.

Jimmy Robinson was arrested at Jefferson City during the last session of the Legislature by a police sergeant sent from St. Louis. With him in the registration fraud cases were convicted Cal Branch, with a six-and-a-half-year sentence; Milt Holland, two years, and Joe Weisman, 2 years. The last named three succeeded in furnishing the appeal bonds demanded by the St. Louis court and all are now at liberty pending the hearing of their appeals in the Supreme Court. "Col." Ed Butler aided in making up their bonds.

JONES ASKS POLICE TO BRING "MILWAUKEE DUTCH" HERE

Offers to Pay Bertillon Expert Shea's Expenses From State Funds.

Circuit Attorney Jones Thursday asked Chief Creecy to send John Shea, superintendent of the Bertillon system, to Crewe, England, to bring back "Milwaukee Dutch" Meyer, alias Mathusec, who is serving a three months' term in jail there.

In March, 1901, Meyer escaped, while on his way to the penitentiary at Jefferson City, to serve 12 years, by jumping through the window of a passenger train. He had been sent up for attempting to snatch $390 from the hands of C. W. Walton, 1327 Blackstone avenue, in the Mechanics' Bank Building.

Subsequently local authorities received word that he had been arrested in England and after serving time there, arrested again in Berlin. Both times local officials allowed him to escape because they said they did not have funds to send for him. Jones has notified Creecy he will pay the expenses of Shea's trip out of his contingent fund. Jones has asked for Shea to go because Shea knows Meyer and the chance of a wrong identification would be lessened, he thinks.

FIREMAN FALLS OFF HOSE REEL

Michael Hanlon Injured at Broadway and Warren Street.

Fire started from rubbish Thursday in the basement of the Goodwin Bros. Printing Co. at 2809 North Broadway, and damaged the one-story building $1000.

While on the way to the fire the axle on reel of Engine Company No. 26 broke at Broadway and Warren street, and Michael Hanlon, a fireman, was thrown off, and his right hand was cut. He was taken to the North Side Dispensary.

HIT BY TON OF IRON, LEG HURT

Youth Has Marvelous Escape With His Life.

Physicians at the City Hospital expressed great surprise Thursday that Arthur Fresinger escaped with a fractured left leg when a piece of iron weighing a ton fell against him.

Fresinger, who is 18 years old, was working in the plant of the Union Electric Light and Power Co. at the foot of Biddle street. In an effort to push the heavy slab of iron over it fell against him.

TAFT SPEAKS IN FAVOR OF DEEP WATERWAY LEGISLATION

President at Newark, N. J., Advocates Economy Plan to Save $100,000,000 Yearly.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 24.—President Taft, who was the speaker last night at the annual dinner given by the Newark Board of Trade, expressed his belief in the wisdom of legislation in behalf of the deep waterway project. His general topic was governmental economy and on this theme he expressed the hope that the commission chosen to investigate expenditures might be able to bring about reforms approximating $100,000,000 a year.

"I would not begin the expenditure of any money," he said, "on any project the wisdom of which had not been fully vindicated; but having determined to put through the improvement it ought not to be done by fits and starts, but it ought to be done as one job.

"This statement has peculiar application to the river and harbor bill, which now has passed the House. There the Ohio River improvement, to cost $63,000,000, is entered upon and an appropriation made for its continuing. The same thing is true of the improvement of the Mississippi from St. Paul to St. Louis and the same river from St. Louis to Cairo and of the Missouri River from Kansas City to St. Louis. These projects seem to be warranted by the traffic in sight."
